NUTRITION

Find fresh foods, more at area farmers markets

BY EVA MURPHY
Newsroom@DominionPost.com

Farmers markets do a world of good for their communities.

The most obvious benefit is improved nutrition among residents. Many studies have indicated that the presence of a farmers market is correlated with increased consumption of fresh fruits and vegetables and lower average BMIs. In recent years, steps have been taken to ensure that the fresh foods found at farmers markets are available to all, no matter their financial status.

Many farmers markets in the region, including those in Morgantown, Kingwood and Bridgeport, accept Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) benefits by EBT card. SNAP Stretch, a program of the West Virginia Food & Farm Coalition, allows shoppers using SNAP to effectively double their money at participating farmers markets. There is no registration process. Shoppers only have to swipe their EBT cards when buying qualifying items and they will receive a one-to-one match in SNAP Stretch dollars, which can be used to purchase fruits, vegetables and other fresh foods. More information on the program can be found at snapstretch.com.

Farmers markets are also a social outlet, not just for the farmers but for community members who attend as well.

"I see people every week at our market that I wouldn't see otherwise, and we catch up on each other's lives and families," said Katie Fallon, manager of the Cheat Lake Farmers Market. Positive social interactions can have a tremendous effect on the well-being of individuals and their communities.

Local economies benefit from the presence of farmers markets. According to the Farmers' Market Coalition, farmers markets and other locally owned retailers return more than three times as much of

WVU EXTENSION

It's off to camp we go

Newsroom@DominionPost.com

Youths from across West Virginia head to West Virginia University Jackson's Mill each summer to participate in camps.

This year is no different, as WVU Extension offers five statewide camps, including something new this summer.

There are countless opportunities for youths throughout the state to attend summer camp, from statewide to specialty county camps, everyone is welcome. Membership in 4-H is not required to attend camp.

"West Virginia state 4-H camps provide access to incredible camp experiences and quality summer learning for all West Virginia youth," Jason Burnside, WVU Extension 4-H camping specialist, said. "You don't have to be in 4-H to participate, but it's a great way to learn more about our youth programs, in addition to learning new skills and making lifelong friendships."

The five statewide camps offered this summer are Older Members Conference (OMC), Junior Firefighter Camp, Camp Jump Start, Alpha I and Alpha II.

Older Members Conference is an annual weeklong camp where attendees learn leadership and civic engagement skills by leading camp activities and discussing current issues. Youths participate in workshops to master new skills that will help them in their futures. This camp will be June 18-23 and is open to anyone ages 14-21.

Junior Firefighter Camp provides classroom education and practical training to further students' knowledge and skill in firefighting and emergency operations. Campers will learn CPR, conduct live fire training, learn about aircraft and vehicle firefighting, as well as participate in team building and leadership exercises. This camp will be June 17-22 and is open to youths ages 14-17.

Camp Jump Start, the newest camp offered by 4-H, is a weekend camp that introduces younger campers to a statewide camping experience. It focuses on team building, personal skill building and friendship. Camp Jump Start will be July 7-9 and is open to ages 10 and 11.

Alpha I and Alpha II also are weeklong camps where campers are divided into age-specific groups to participate in workshops and learn about teamwork and leadership. Campers also will attend assemblies with guest speakers and have many opportunities to develop new skills. Alpha I is not a prerequisite to Alpha II. Both camps are open to anyone ages 12-21. Alpha I will be July 9-14, while Alpha II will be July 16-21.

"I am looking forward to another amazing summer of camps at Jackson's Mill," Brent Clark, director of 4-H Youth Development, said. "The addition of Camp Jump Start to our offerings, as well as the continued evolution of our weeklong state camps, will provide wonderful opportunities for youths throughout West Virginia."

Each county in West Virginia offers some type of camping program for 4-H'ers and other youths, including day camps and overnight camps.

Costs for each camp vary, but financial assistance is available for some programs. For more information about WVU Extension 4-H camp opportunities, visit <https://extension.wvu.edu/youth-family/4h/camps> or contact your local WVU Extension office.

Area pools offer several locations for cooling off

BY BEN CONLEY

BConley@DominionPost.com

After 65 years as a Morgantown summer staple, BOPARC's Marilla Pool is ready for retirement.

But not before at least one last hurrah.

This is opening weekend for both city park pools — Marilla and Krepps — and likely the final summer season before major changes come to Marilla Park.

According to BOPARC's tentative schedule, it anticipates receiving bids this summer for construction of a $9 million to $11 million pool complex in upper Marilla Park.

BOPARC Executive Director Melissa Wiles said the concept includes a zero-grade entry, a "lazy-river" component, water slides, a splash pad and a deep well to accommodate a wide range of aquatic programming.

The relocation of the pool complex up the hill to the former site of a baseball/softball field is part of a complete reimagining of lower Marilla Park.

As for this summer, both BOPARC pools will be open daily from noon-6 p.m., with evening swim hours until 8 p.m. on select Fridays.

Daily admission to the pools is $6 for adults; $5 for children 4-17 and seniors 55+. Children under 3 are free with a paying adult and slide passes are available at Marilla for $3.

Sunday is discount day at the pools. Admission for a group of four is $15, with up to two additional admitted for $2 each.

An individual can purchase a season pool pass for $110 or $130 (with slides). A family pass for up to four people can be purchased for $200 or $230 (with slides) and $25 for each additional person.

As in summers past, BOPARC also offers a number of pool programs, including swimming lessons and aquatic fitness classes like power splash, shallow fit, deep interval and aqua boxing.

4-H clubs provide learning, social opportunities for youth all year

BY JENIFFER GRAHAM
Newsroom@DominionPost.com

KINGWOOD — The West Virginia University Extension office offers several 4-H camps for Preston County children.

David Hartley, an extension agent who works with 4-H, said the camps offer children the opportunity to learn new skills, form new friendships and to learn through workshops and activities.

He said some of the skills offered might be how to fish or learn to swim.

Hartley said a typical day at camp consists of three meals and two snacks.

“After breakfast comes leadership activities and crafts, learning about the environment and attending STEM workshops,” he said.

Hartley said after lunch there is usually either a program or a guest speaker.

“The older class engages in serving, learning and having a service project,” he said. “This year, we are working with Food for Preston packing bags of food to be given out. We are going to try to pack 1,000 bags. This project is to teach about helping others.”

Kingwood Pool to open June 5 with new splash pad

BY JENIFFER GRAHAM
Newsroom@DominionPost.com

KINGWOOD — In the 1950s, the Kingwood Volunteer Fire Department sold bonds to raise the funds needed to open a community swimming pool.

This goal was accomplished on Aug. 14, 1957, when the pool first opened for business.

Since that time the pool has grown with the community. This year's additions include a splash pad, new outdoor furniture and Sunday pool parties.

The pool will open on June 5, according to Kevin Stiles, director of Kingwood Parks and Recreation. Hours will be noon-5 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Night swimming will be from 6-8 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday. Lifeguards are on duty during all operating hours, and concessions are available.

According to Stiles, there will be no swimming lessons offered this year.

Another popular spot to visit this summer is Brown's Park. Brown's Park was founded in 1907, when William G. Brown donated three acres of land on the west side of town to the City of Kingwood, according to the Kingwood Parks and Recreation web site.

Brown's Park is a community park and playground maintained by Kingwood Parks and Recreation. It features updated playground equipment and a large covered pavilion with a wood burning fire-place, electric, restrooms and off street parking. The park is available for event rental.

Each summer, Kingwood Parks and Recreation holds a summer camp for ages 5-13. Throughout the weeks of camp, the

CHEAT LAKE

From trails to playgrounds, lake offers more than water

BY LISA ELLISON

Newsroom@DominionPost.com

Nearly hidden, less than 2 miles down Morgan Run Road from Monongalia County 857 is one of the gems of Cheat Lake.

Cheat Lake Park and Trail and Hiking/Biking Trail, at the end of Morgan Run Road, is a good place for a walk or a family outing.

The hiking trail runs along Cheat Lake's shore and shows off the natural beauty of the location.

Though there are no lifeguards and it is “swim at your own risk,” there is a sandy beach and swimming area.

The walking/biking trail is 4.5 miles long and runs along the edge of Cheat Lake. Made of compact stone, the 12-foot wide trail is handicap-accessible.

A picnic area includes several picnic benches. These are on a first come, first served basis and cannot be reserved.

Fishermen can enjoy the nearby fishing locations and docks along the shore from which to fish or just enjoy the quiet of the lake. During the summer season, all boats must be launched from Sunset Beach, which is about four miles away on Sunset Beach Road.

Back at Cheat Lake Beach Park is a playground for the children, not to far from the free parking area. In the summer months, a pavilion with public restrooms is available.

Boat docks are publicly available for day use. During the day, these boat docks can be used to access the public restrooms and the picnic area. Boats can be launched from the park between November and April.

Specific traveling routes or other information is available at <https://cheatlake.com>.

West Virginia Black Bears announce 2023 promotional schedule

Newsroom@DominionPost.com

Opening Day at Monongalia County Ballpark is just days away for the West Virginia Black Bears.

The 80-game season, which begins on the road at Mahoning Valley on June 1, features seven weekend series at home with the home opener set for June 6 against Williamsport.

The Black Bears recently released their preliminary 2023 promotional schedule. Packed with fireworks dates, multiple giveaways and new theme nights, this summer promises to be full of fun for the entire family.

West Virginia begins the defense of its 2022 MLB Draft League title at Monongalia County Ballpark with a championship game rematch against the Williamsport Crosscutters at 7 p.m. June 6.

Opening Day features a 2022 Championship Pennant giveaway for the first 500 fans and fireworks presented by WVU Medicine.

Summer highlights

Spend Father's Day with the Black Bears and give Dad a gift he'll love. Father's Day returns to The Mon for the first time since 2017 with a game on June 18, presented by Generators Plus. Fans can grab a Father's Day Black Bears logo baseball at the gate and stay for a special post-game session of "catch" on the field. For the second year, the Black Bears will hold an "Ultimate Dad" contest where one proud father will take home a Black Bears prize pack.

Fireworks will light up the Morgantown skyline post-game on nine dates this season with Friday Night Fireworks every Friday, and the Black Bears' Independence Day game on July 3. Celebrate the holiday with the team's biggest fireworks show of the season as West Virginia takes on the Mahoning Valley Scrappers at 7 p.m.

Ten giveaways stand out on the 2023 promotional schedule. They include the Championship Pennant on Opening Day, the Father's Day logo baseball, a "house sigil" T-shirt for House Black Bears Night on June 27, and a bobblehead for Mothman Night at The Mon on Aug. 12.

Fans, mark your calendars because Star Wars Night, presented by WVU Medicine, returns June 24. The wildly popular evening features specialty jerseys for auction to benefit WVU Medicine Children's Hospital.

Bark in the Park, presented by Pampered 4 Paws, comes back for two dates this summer on June 28, and July 22. Ticket packs for both games include one adult ticket, one dog ticket, and a Black Bears dog bandana. All proceeds from the dog tickets will benefit Animal Friends of North Central West Virginia.

Back by popular demand, 2sDAYS at The Park is better than ever. In addition to $2 off tickets and $2 concession specials, the Black Bears will offer 20% off select merchandise every Tuesday.

Thursday nights at The Mon just became a lot more fun as the Bears debut their new Thirsty Thursday™ promotion. Pick up a logo Thirsty Thursday™ 16 oz.

giveaway cup at the gate and receive half-off domestic drafts with the cup at the concession stands. Fans can also take advantage of the Black Bears' Friday night Happy Hour special with half-off all drinks every Friday evening from gates open until first pitch.

Along with kids run the bases post-game on Sundays, they can enjoy the free Kids' Zone inflatables every Sunday, and the kids' T-shirt giveaway on Masked Heroes Day July 18. First Responders Day on July 23 will feature a touch-a-truck event hosted by the Granville Fire Department.

FIREWORKS WILL LIGHT UP THE MORGANTOWN SKYLINE POST-GAME ON NINE DATES THIS SEASON WITH FRIDAY NIGHT FIREWORKS EVERY FRIDAY, AND THE BLACK BEARS' INDEPENDENCE DAY GAME ON JULY 3.

Range in Fairmont. This is for youth who are 12 years old and up.

While most of the 4-H clubs take a break during the summer months, the shotgun club still meets monthly. This club is led by 4-H instructors and volunteers Jim Bowers and David Myers. If you are interested in trying this out, call Jim at 304-216-8914.

The 4-H members have been hard at work on their 4-H projects over the past year. Members self-select a hobby-based project or two that include activities designed to help them learn more about an area of interest. Once a project is complete, the 4-H member brings what they learned in the form of an exhibit to the fair to compete for a ribbon.

Members also exhibit their livestock 4-H project animals at the Clay District Fair (Aug. 16-19), Mon County Fair (Aug. 1-5), Battelle District Fair (July 11-15), and the Monongalia County 4-H and FFA Livestock Show and Sale (Aug. 26).

Direct questions about the 4-H program, to WVU Monongalia County 4-H Extension Agent Becca Fint-Clark at Becca.Fint-Clark@mail.wvu.edu or via phone at 304-291-7201.
