Lawmakers to discuss feasibility of proposed tax cuts by Justice

BY BRAD McELHINNY WVMetroNews.com

Following on the heels of a big personal income tax cut, Gov. Jim Justice has proposed three more tax breaks.

West Virginia lawmakers will now need to calculate whether the state can afford to embrace the proposals.

The governor's proposals, outlined in his State of the State address, include changes to the state's income tax on Social Security benefits, a credit for child and dependent care, and a senior citizen property tax credit.

"These tax cuts are about putting West Virginians first," Justice stated last week.

"We're continuing to make West Virginia a more affordable place to live, raise a family and retire, and these proposals demonstrate my commitment to putting real money back in people's wallets, helping families raise their kids, seniors stay in their homes, and everyone breathe a little easier. I encourage the Legislature to strongly consider these proposals."

The administration estimated the three tax breaks combined add up to about $50 million.

Each of these proposals, if passed, would be retroactive to Jan. 1, 2024.

Social Security exemption

A 2019 bill signed into law by the governor featured a threeyear phase-in to exempt Social Security income from personal income taxes for most West Virginians, particularly those in lower tax brackets.

This proposal would exempt those in higher brackets from being taxed on Social Security benefits. The bill was introduced in the House of Delegates as HB

West Virginia can finally enjoy some positives after going through the ringer the past eight months.

The Mountaineers have endured Hall of Fame coach Bob Huggins' exit following a drunken driving arrest that led to a roster makeover.

Add to that a preseason health scare for forward Akok Akok, a nine-game suspension for guard Kerr Kriisa, Jesse Edwards missing the past month with a broken wrist, and an ongoing court fight with the NCAA that had temporarily multiple-transfer sidelined players RaeQuan Battle and Noah Farrakhan.

Tipping the scale in the other direction was Saturday's euphoria. Battle scored 23 points and grabbed nine rebounds, Pat Suemnick added a career-high 20 points and West Virginia beat No. 3 Kansas 91-85.

"It's a surreal moment, man," Battle said. "It's hard to win games like that, especially doing it at this level and being a few steps behind because we had a crazy offseason. I'm just proud of this team and the coaching staff."

Fans stormed the court after the Mountaineers (7-11, 2-3 Big 12) improved to 7-5 against Kansas in Morgantown and broke a six-game losing streak in the series.

"That one felt good," said West Virginia interim coach Josh Eilert, who took over a week after Huggins' arrest.

"That's what our guys needed," Eilert said. "I'm going to savor it tonight, I promise you that. We've been through a lot. This fan base has been through a lot."

West Virginia set the pace Saturday with an early 3-point barrage and outhustled the Jayhawks to get key free throws in the end.

"I just think we wanted it more," Suemnick said. Kriisa added 15 points for the Mountaineers. The Mountaineers, the Big 12's worst 3-point shooting team, made 12 of 21 (57%) from much all I have. Any questions?" Invariably, Nancy Walker will be the first board member to raise her hand.

She'll laugh and give a mockgrimace, even, if her queries are going to be especially pesky.

"You know me," she'll say. "I always have questions. Let's go back to that second chart, if we can. Because I want to talk about that."

When the board convenes for its first meeting for the new fiscal year in July, Walker won't be there to raise her hand.

After 28 years — or, more than 9,400 meetings, when it's all done — Walker is retiring from the board. She'll be absent from the ballot for the May primary. "You have to know when it's time to step aside," the Eastern District incumbent said. "And it's time. I have grand-

Her grown children were younger than her grandchildren are now, in fact, when she decided to make that first run. Walker's slogan for that inaugural campaign was, "The Parent's Voice." All that institutional knowl-

Solar United Neighbors survey shows statewide support for solar power and net metering

BY DAVID BEARD

DBeard@DominionPost.com

As the state Public Service Commission considers a Mon Power/Potomac Edison proposal to lower the credits for home solar customers. Solar United Neighbors has released results of a survey that shows the popularity of solar power — including home solar.

Solar United Neighbors (SUN) is a national nonprofit that advocates for solar power and is an intervenor in the FirstEnergy sister's PSC rate case that includes the reduction in the net-metering credit for home solar customers.

Commenting on the survey, Leah Barbor, SUN West Virginia state director, said, "The most important takeaway is that West Virginians support solar. They want policies that protect and expand access to solar regardless of party. I hope our decision makers legislative session. It's time to support strong solar policy."

SUN said it contracted Echelon Insights to poll West Virginians across the state on solar energy initiatives. Participants ranged in age from 18-65-plus from areas including Bluefield/Beckley, Charleston, Hunting-Clarksburg/Weston and Wheeling. Participants included self-identified conservatives, Democrats and Independents.

Among the results:

■ 78% believe it is a good idea for more West Virginia families to own and benefit from their own solar panels.

■ Nearly 70% support community solar initiatives, which would allow residential customers to tap into power from nearby panels solar without installing at their own homes will heed these results this be much less or somewhat less likely to support reelection for legislators who voted for bills to raise the solar installation.

■ 65% said they would

> The poll also included questions regarding the proposed companies' changes to net metering.

> The proposal is included in their base rate case, filed 31. requesting $207.5 million, including for infrastructure and their energy assistance program. The hike would cost the average residential customer $18.07 per month raising a bill from $120.20 to $138.27, a 15% hike. The overall proposed increase across all customer types residential, commercial, industrial and street lighting — is 13%.

Net-metering customers generate all or a portion of their own power, typically through solar, and receive credits on their bill for any power they generate in excess of what they use.

Currently, the compaprovide a full 1-to-1 credit, meaning energy given to the utility is worth the same as energy bought from the utility. The current residential base rate is about 11.4 cents per kilowatt hour (kWh) and could go up to about 13 cents as the companies' several rate cases reach respective their conclusions. The companies propose to change that to base credits on the wholesale rate for electricity, which the filings calculate at 6.6 cents per kWh — roughly half of the 13 cents per kWh. This would take effect for new net-metering customers joining after March 27,

PSC staff have agreed that the credit needs to be reduced but proposed a middle ground: 8.8 cents per kWh.

In the poll, SUN said, being thoroughly informed about the concept of net metering, 70% of survey respondents expressed support for the current net metering system.

Gary Zuckett, executive director of West Virginia Citizen Action Group also an intervenor in the rate case — commented, "As a homeowner with new rooftop solar panels that are also connected to our local utility's grid, a full value credit on the power I pump into the grid is essential to make my solar installation pay for itself."

In a Thursday PSC filing, the companies said the parties are attempting to reach a settlement on all or a portion of the various issues in the case and continue to negotiate in good faith toward a resolution in full, or a least a narrowing of the issues. They said they will keep the PSC informed as the Jan. 24 evidentiary hearing date approaches.

The PSC has also scheduled a virtual public hearing in the case, set for 5:30 p.m. Jan. 22. Interested persons may comment telephonically through the Microsoft Teams application from the internet, or in-person at the Commisheadquarters, 201 Brooks St., Charleston.

As of Friday afternoon, the net-metering proposal had generated 1,359 letters of protest. Mon Power has said the proposal is a way to avoid cross-subsidization, where regular customers would be footing part of the bill for net-metering customers; cross-subsidization is prohibited in state code.

Earlier this month, Mon Power flipped the switch on the first of its five planned solar power sites. This one is at Fort Martin and is the largest solar site in West Virginia. It sits on 92 acres adjacent to Mon Power's Fort Martin coal-fired plant, and the solar operation covers 80 of those acres, with 49,032 solar panels generating 18.89 MW.

The solar sites were enabled by 2020 legislation, SB 583, which allows the state's two electric utilities, Mon Power and AEP to build or buy and then own and operate solar plants four 50 megawatt plants totaling 200 MW per utility - in order to draw national companies to West Virginia that want a significant solar element in their energy portfolio.

Zelenskyy calls Trump's rhetoric about Ukraine's war with Russia 'very dangerous'

Associated Press

President Ukrainian Volodymyr Zelenskyy said he was worried at the prospect of Donald Trump returning to the White House, branding Trump's claim that he could stop Ukraine's war with Russia in 24 hours as "very dangerous."

In an interview with the U.K.'s Channel 4 News that aired Friday, Zelenskyy invited the former president and front-runner for the Republican presidential nomination to visit Kyiv, but only if Trump delivers on his promise.

"Donald Trump, I

Zelenskyy appeared apprehensive that Trump's idea of a negotiated solution might involve Ukraine making major concessions to Russia.

An Israeli airstrike on the Syrian capital killed at least 5 Iranian advisers, officials say

Associated Press

DAMASCUS, Syria — An Israeli strike on the Syrian capital on Saturday destroyed a building used by the Iranian paramilitary Revolutionary Guard, killing at least five Iranians, Syrian and Iranian state media reported.

The Syrian army said the building in the tightly guarded western Damascus neighborhood Mazzeh was entirely destroyed, adding that the Israeli air force fired the missiles while flying over Syria's Israeli-occupied Golan Heights. The Israeli military did not comment.

A few hours later, an Israeli drone strike on a car the southern Lebanese port city of Tyre killed two people, including a Hezbollah member, who were in the vehicle and two people who were in a nearby orchard, an official the with group and Lebanon's state news agency said. One of those killed was Ali Hudruj, a local Hezbollah commander, said the official, who spoke on condition of anonymity in line with regulations, without giving further details.

Nour News, which is believed to be close to Iran's intelligence apparatus, identified two of the dead in Damascus as Gen. Sadegh Omidzadeh, the intelligence deputy of the guard's expeditionary Quds Force in Syria, and his deputy, who goes by the nom de guerre Hajj Gholam. The guard later issued statements identifying the five dead as Hojjatollah Omidvar, Ali Aghazadeh, Hossein Mohammadi, Saeed Karimi and Mohammad Amin Samadi. It gave no ranks for them. The difference in information could be not immediately reconciled.

An opposition war monitor, the Syrian Observatory for Human Rights, said at least six people — five Iranians and a Syrian were killed in the missile attack that struck while officials from Iran-backed groups were holding a meeting. The Observatory's chief, Rami Abdurrahman, said three of the Iranians were commanders, adding that four other people are still missing under the rubble.

The Telegram channel for Iranian state TV reported that Iran's President Ebrahim Raisi condemned the Israeli attack on Damascus, adding that "the Islamic Republic will not leave the crimes of the Zionist unanswered."

Iranian Foreign Ministry spokesman Nasser Kanaani condemned the Israeli strike in a statement saying that "without any doubt, the blood of these high-ranking martyrs will not be wasted.

Iran also tried again to link Israel to the Islamic State group, something its leaders have been trying to do since a suicide bombing by the extremists in early January in Iran killed more than 90 people.

Security forces deployed around the destroyed fourstory building as ambulances and fire engines were seen in the area. A search for people trapped under the rubble was underway. Windows were also shattered in nearby buildings.

6-legged spaniel undergoes surgery to remove extra limbs and adjusts to life on four paws

Ohio poised to become 2nd state to restrict gender-affirming care

Associated Press

Ohio Gov. Mike DeWine announced proposals this month that transgender advocates say could block access to gender-affirming care provided by independent clinics and general practitioners, leaving thousands of adults scrambling for treatment and facing health risks.

Ashton Colby, 31, fears the clinic where he gets the testosterone he has taken since age 19 would no longer offer it. The transgender Columbus man believes he could eventually be treated by another provider that would meet the new requirements. But even a few months' wait could leave Colby experiencing a menstrual cycle for the first time in many years.

"My mental health has been stressed," Colby said. "These are feelings related to being transgender that I have not felt in years, but now I'm thrown into feeling devastated about my experience as a transgender person."

DeWine announced the proposed rules amid a whirl of activity that could push Ohio further than most other states in controlling gender-affirming care and make it just the second to set forth restrictions on adult care.

He also signed an executive order to ban genderaffirming surgery for minors but vetoed a bill that would ban all genderaffirming care for minors. One chamber of the state legislature has already overridden it and the other is voting Jan. 24 on whether

"She was on PTA and the school improvement council and she did Read-Aloud. And she was working the whole time, too. I wasn't surprised when she said she was running for school board."

Walker's tenure included hiring school superintendents, and making changes with school superintendents.

She made decisions on the construction of new schools and the closings of beloved ones.

13 students reported killed in an elementary school dorm fire in China's Henan province

Associated Press

BANGKOK — A fire broke out in dorms at a boarding school for elementary students in central Henan province, and 13 students died in the blaze, Chinese state media reported Saturday.

All of the dead were third grade students, a teacher told Zonglan news, a state-backed media outlet from Hebei province. One person rescued from the scene was being treated in the hospital, CCTV, China's state broadcaster said.

Police set up a cordon around the school, a Xinhua news report showed, and the dorm where the fire had happened was charred black even on the outside of the building. The school had metal grilles covering the windows, as is common in buildings in China.

The dormitory room housed approximately 30 students, according to Xinhua. The remaining 16 students were safely evacuated.

The fire started Friday night and was put out just before midnight at Yingcai School in rural Fangcheng district in central Henan. The school's owner was detained, CCTV reported.

State media reported that public records showed the owner of the school is a man called Li Jizhong. The AP could not reach Li.

Local authorities said they were investigating the cause of the fire. China's central Emergency Management Ministry dispatched a team to the scene to do an investigation as well.

We have engaged in 50 years of work to protect unborn children and their families from the damage of abortion.

West Virginians for Life has helped to pass 12 pieces of legislation and one Constitutional Amendment. This legislation has included protections for unborn human beings, such as babies born alive from the abortion and those that are disabled.

Our laws have also protected and support the mothers, including informed consent laws, parental notice, and requirements that the mother be offered information on Fetal Hospice and the option of seeing her baby's ultrasound.

Legislative Agenda of WV for Life in the Legislative Session of 2024

WOMEN'S RIGHT TO KNOW ACT would restore informed consent to mothers who meet the requirements to have an abortion in West Virginia, by requiring that they be informed about the risks of, and alternatives to, abortion. It would educate patients regarding the dangers of the abortion pill, along with the fact that the effects of such a chemical abortion can be reversed. It would also ensure that information on disabilities (including support networks) is given to parents when they are told that their unborn child has special needs.

IMMIGRATION

Migrants depart Honduras for U.S. by caravan

Associated Press

SAN PEDRO SULA, Honduras — Some 500 Honduran migrants in a caravan departed Saturday before dawn from the northern city of San Pedro Sula in hopes of reaching the United States.

It was the first such group since January 2022 and was comprised of men, women and children mostly from inland and southern Honduras, where many farm workers lost their jobs due to the closure of some plantations.

"We are determined to keep going because here we are worse off. We have no jobs. We are hungry," said Edgar Iván Hernández, a 26-year-old farm worker who was traveling with three relatives.

His cousin, Arnold Ulises Hernández, said they were encouraged to join the caravan after finding out about it on social networks. "The best way is to leave in a group because that way we are not stopped much by the police or immigration," he said.

The vast majority of migrants cross Central America and Mexico in small groups, using all types of transportation and smuggling networks. Only a few form caravans.

The San Pedro Sula bus terminal is where migrants leave daily in buses headed north toward the U.S., but it was also the origin of the massive caravans of late 2018 and 2019.

abouts at the intersections with Kingwood Pike and Mississippi Street. That work has already been funded.

According to The Dominion Post archive, the project is estimated at $19 million — including $3 million in right-of-way improvements in the current fiscal year and $16 million for roundabout construction in fiscal year 2025

Austin explained the community garden program is necessary for the West Virginia Division of Highways and Federal Highway Administration to clear the Green Bag Road designs as having no significant environmental impact.

"When you lose a resource like a community garden or something of that nature as part of a transportation project, there are environmental regulations that require you to mitigate that impact," he said.

Policy board members said they would like to be kept apprised as the details of the program are finalized and urged close oversight as the funds are distributed.

Monongalia County Commissioner Tom Bloom was the most vocal, explaining Green Bag Road is already "a touchy subject."

"I do not want an $18 million project to stop because of some technicality over a community garden. That's my major concern, and that is the avenue that has been used, not by us, but by others," Bloom said. "I have a real concern about that."

Austin said he can't envision that happening as long as the effort is made.

"If we don't make a goodfaith effort on this issue, then we might have some concerns. As long as we're making a good-faith effort there's no concern with it," he said.

While the details of the garden grant program largely remain in process, Austin explained up to $5,000 will be available per project application. The money can't be used to purchase or secure property but is intended to cover implements, seeds and other gardening expenses.

University fire safety experts recommend measures during seasonal home fire hazards

BY KAITLYN EICHELBERGER

Keichelberger@DominionPost.com

As the region faces colder temperatures, many people turn to space heaters or other alternative heat sources to stay warm. With heating equipment as the secondleading cause of home fires in the United States, a West Virginia University fire safety expert advises the best ways to reduce fire risks and stay safe while keeping warm during these cold winter days.

According to research by the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA), most home fires involving heating equipment occur in January, followed by December and February, with most of these fires occurring between 6-9 p.m. The majority of these fires were caused by fixed or portable space heaters, equipment that WVU Extension Fire Service director and assistant professor Mark Lambert warns can be hazardous without proper safety measures.

"Be sure to turn off radiant or electric space heaters before going to bed, especially older models that are prone to tipping over and have no safety shutoff abilities," said Lambert. "I also would encourage you not to leave them on when leaving your home."

West Virginia faces higher than average rates of fire fatalities, a matter that can potentially be attributed to rural areas receiving longer response times or the state's vulnerable elderly population. West Virginia fire departments report nearly double the national average of firerelated incidents, and so far in 2024, the state has already seen six home fire fatalities. With reports by the NFPA stating that around 60% of home fire deaths were caused by fires in structures with no smoke alarms or failed smoke alarms, Lambert emphasizes the importance of functional smoke and carbon monoxide detectors.

"In some recent fire fatalities in West Virginia and elsewhere, the investigators have concluded there were no working smoke detectors," said Lambert. "Having working smoke and carbon monoxide detectors is one of the easiest and cheapest ways to save your family and yourself."

Lambert suggests installing smoke alarms on every level of your home, including near sleeping areas. Smoke and carbon monoxide alarms should be tested monthly and batteries replaced at least once a year. If you need smoke detectors for your home, you can contact the West Virginia State Fire Marshal's office or reach out to local fire departments. In the case of renters, landlords are required to provide smoke detectors, while tenants are responsible for regularly testing and replacing batteries in the alarms.

Lambert recommends sleeping with doors closed, as it increases your likelihood of surviving a house fire by 70%. Establish an escape plan and safety measures with other household members by determining two ways out of your home or apartment, designating a meeting place outside of the home and ensuring all household members know how to contact 911 in the event of an emergency.

The United States Fire Administration estimated 353,500 residential building fires occurred nationally in 2021. Considering the heating equipment related increase in home fires in winter months, as well as West Virginia's above average rates of home fires, education and preparation are keys to keeping yourself and your household safe.

EDUCATION

Late WVU alumna's gift provides nearly $1M for journalism scholarships

A late West Virginia University alumna's trust gift of nearly $1 million is expanding scholarship opportunities for students majoring in journalism.

Betty R. Lynch, a native of Harrison County, earned a bachelor's degree from WVU in 1946. Upon her death in 2019, she left behind $963,041 to provide scholarship support for WVU journalism students.

"Mrs. Lynch's generous donation is providing opportunities for students who may not otherwise be able to pursue a college education," said Diana Martinelli, dean of the WVU Reed College of Media. "Her support will have a positive impact on both the lives of these aspiring journalists and the industry. I'm grateful for her and other donors who share in our passion to educate the next generation of media professionals."

journalism Thirteen students at the Reed College of Media received support from the Betty R. Lynch Journalism Scholarship during the fall 2023 semester.

Regan Duceman, of Fredericksburg, Va., found her passion for journalism while taking newspaper classes in high school. To her, being a journalist offers opportunities to meet amazing people, cover interesting topics and provide important information to the public.

Duceman is a sophomore at WVU who values the support scholarships such as this one has given her.

"Scholarship support has been vital in my time at WVU," Duceman said. "Without receiving scholarships, I would not be able to attend the university. The financial support and generosity that comes from me being a recipient of these scholarships allows me to pursue my dreams of receiving a degree and hopefully one day becoming a news anchor. They also lessen the financial burden and open more room to participate in opportunities such as study abroad."

Regan Duceman

Williamson native and scholarship recipient Ayden Norcross was inspired to become a journalist by the writing of Hunter S. Thompson and the documentaries of Louis Theroux. Norcross is a sophomore at WVU who aspires to serve as a public affairs officer for the U.S. Army and pursue indepenjournalism dent ward.

"Scholarships mean everything to me," Norcross said. "Without them, I would not be able to attend this school, and I am very grateful to have received them."

Lynch was a lifelong WVU supporter. After she Lynch stayed in Morgantown, where she spent the final years of her life being cared for by Bob Bennett and his wife.

"I had known Betty for a very long time," Bennett said. "She was modest, a hard worker all her life and fun to be around. She truly was an amazing person."

Lynch always spoke fondly of WVU and showed her support with several small gifts to the University during her lifetime.

Lynch's trust gift was made through the WVU Foundation, the nonprofit organization that receives and administers private donations on behalf of the university.

Extension announces new college-focused weekend for West Virginia high schoolers

WVU Extension

Registration is open for a new weekend event for high school juniors and seniors who are interested in college, hosted by West Virginia University Extension.

Let's Go Weekend is a free, family-friendly college preparation event that will be held March 1-3 at WVU Jackson's Mill.

There are 50 spots open for West Virginia students to attend this event. Students can come on their own, or their parents can join in and learn about college alongside them.

"We welcome all West Virginia juniors and seniors that want to take steps to prepare for the path they wish to take," said Jason Burnside, WVU Extension 4-H camping specialist. "We are looking forward to hosting this new event at our state 4-H camp at WVU Jackson's Mill to provide a relaxed atmosphere where we can help young people succeed."

Students will participate in guided workshops to prepare for and complete the FAFSA, Promise Scholarship application and other scholarship opportunities. Attendees also will get the opportunity to apply to WVU and have their application fee waived.

Several other engaging workshops will cover everything from cooking nutritious meals in your dorm to practicing sound personal finance while in college.

"Moving from high school to college can be a stressful time and there is a lot of information to sort through, so this event is focused on helping high school students and their families prepare for that transition," said Rachel Meininger, WVU Extension recruitment director. "Our goal is to help make that next step easier and provide resources for families to make them as successful as possible."

Upon arrival at WVU Jackson's Mill, students and their families will check in and attend a WVU tailgate-themed gathering with other attendees. This will give students the chance to meet their peers and will feature classic tailgate foods and games, a photo booth and the WVU Mountaineer mascot. There will be a welcome ceremony afterward.

On Saturday, there will be workshops for students and parents together in the morning and separately in the afternoon. This event will feature the WVU Statler College of Mining and Engineering, the WVU PurposeCenter, the WVU Extension financial literacy team, the HUB, WVU Upward Bound, a WVU student panel and college-themed games in the evening. All meals will be provided.

Everyone will gather one last time on Sunday for an overview session of the weekend and an opportunity to ask any remaining questions. Registrationwill close Feb. 14. Current 4-H members can register through their ZSuite accounts, and others can register at https://4h.zsuite.org/external-event-registration/24536.

WASHINGTON — New Speaker Mike Johnson himself leading House Republicans with a majority in name only.

The Louisiana lawmaker has been unable to unite his right flank and he's commanding one of the slimmest House majorities in history.

So the speaker is being forced to rely on Democrats for the basics of governing. That's what happened last week on the latest bill prevent a federal shutdown.

Johnson is approaching his first 100 days on the job and he's facing some daunting choices ahead.

WEATHER

Brutal cold reaching deep into lower United States

Associated Press

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Arctic weather brought more misery to much of the U.S. on Saturday, especially for people unaccustomed to such bitter cold in places like Memphis, Tennessee where residents were urged to boil water and some had no water at all after freeztemperatures broke water mains across the city. Temperatures weren't expected to rise until after the weekend.

The bracing cold followed a week of storms blamed for at least 61 deaths around the U.S., many involving hypothermia or road accidents.

At the Four Way Grill in Memphis, owner Patrice Bates Thompson said the water problems have closed their soul food kitchen for days.

"This is our staple, and this is what basically drives the force of my family financially," Thompson told Fox-13 Memphis. "We depend on business, and we have been at home."

So many pipes broke in Memphis that water pressure fell throughout the city. Concerned about possible contamination, Memphis Light, Gas & Water urged its more than 400,000 customers to boil water for drinking or teethbrushing or use bottled supplies on Saturday while crews worked around the clock to make repairs.

"Our production and treatment of water is working well," the utility said in an email. "We cannot give restoration estimates until all leaks are identified."

The utility said more than 100 employees volunteered Saturday to identify breaks, and residents were urged to report leaks in the street, at homes and in unoccupied buildings.

Without water since Thursday morning, Pamela Wells was visited Saturday by a worker who asked whether they had a leak.

"My husband said, 'How can we have a leak, if we don't have any water?" she said.

They had filled a bathtub with water to flush toilets with when they noticed the pressure dropping, Wells said. For everything else they were using a dwin-

CHARLESTON — U.S. Sen. Shelley Moore Capito said Friday on MetroNews "Talkline" work taking place on new border security measures mirror several Trump-era policies.

Trump has been critical in recent days of the negotiations saying the plan should be rejected

Trump has posted on social media that no bordeal should be accepted unless the U.S. gets everything it wants.

Capito said Friday the comments are premature.

"I wouldn't say that President Trump is wrong, I would say that where President Trump needs to look deeper is at the details at what we've looked at and how it's very much like what he created under his administration," Capito told Talkline host Hoppy Kercheval.

"If you come in you can't stay in this country you have to go back and wait in Mexico," Capito said. "That's a deterrent."

Capito said the asylum claim for those who do come in will have a higher bar.

"You just won't be catch-and-release into country," Capito this said.

She added those who come into the U.S. won't be paroled for 10 years while they are waiting for their claim. "These are effective policies that really President Trump created during his administration," Capito said. Eight million have come across the border since President Joe Biden was elected, a record 300,000 in December alone, Capito said.

"We are going to policies the change because the only way to force this president into any action is to change the law because he obviously wants an open-border policy," she said.

Lewis dog training business owners face animal cruelty charges

BY MIKE NOLTING WVMetroNews.com

WESTON — The owners of Shockeyhaus, a Lewis County dog training and breeding business, have been arrested and charged with animal cruelty.

Sydney and Daryl Shockey each face three counts of animal cruelty following complaints from several pet owners to the West Virginia State Police that dogs suffered chemical burns, injuries that required amputation, and extreme weight loss.

The pet owners told troopers the overnight, four- to six-week training programs cost thousands of dollars. When owners returned to pick up their pets, some were injured, underfed, or became skittish around them.

Shockeyhaus specialized in German shepherds and Belgian malinois and operated in the Horner area.

The Shockeyhaus website is no longer online and has been out of compliance with the West Virginia Secretary of State since 2021.

Microsoft says Russian hackers accessed emails

Associated Press

BOSTON — Statebacked Russian hackers broke into Microsoft's corporate email system and accessed the accounts of members of the company's leadership team, as well as those of employees on its cybersecurity and legal teams, the company said Friday.

blog Microsoft said the intrusion began in late November and was discovered on Jan. 12. It said the same highly skilled Russian hacking team behind the SolarWinds breach was responsible.

"A very small percentage" of Microsoft corporate accounts were accessed, the company said, and some emails and attached documents were stolen.

A company spokesperson said Microsoft had no immediate comment on which or how many members of its senior leadership had their email accounts breached. In a regulatory filing Friday, Microsoft said it was able to remove the hackers' access from the compromised accounts on or about Jan. 13. "We are in the process of notifying employees whose email accessed," Microsoft said, adding that its investigation indicates the hackers were initially targeting email accounts for information related to their activities.

The Microsoft disclosure comes a month after a new U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission rule took effect that compels publicly traded companies to disclose breaches that could negatively impact their business.

In Friday's SEC regulatory filing, Microsoft said that "as of the date of this filing, the incident has not had a material impact" on its operations. It added that it has not, however "determined whether the incident is reasonably likely to materially impact" its finances. Microsoft, which is based in Redmond, Wash., said the hackers from Russia's SVR foreign intelligence agency were able to gain access by compromising credentials on a "legacy" test account.

Girlfriend's big dog stakes claim as king of the castle

DEAR ABBY: A month ago, I reconnected with a woman, "Fran," I have known since seventh grade. We are both divorced (I, 20 years; Fran, four years) with grown children and live 90 minutes apart. We have enjoyed hour upon hour of telephone conversations and have spent two weekends together. We have been very emotionally intimate, but not sexually, by choice, as to not distort the "purity" of our relationship.

My problem is, Fran has a large, high-energy dog that has free roam of her home (and her bed). "Goliath" travels with her virtually everywhere she goes. including when she visits me.

Goliath is goodnatured and extremely fond of me, but I don't have pets, nor do I care to have her dog jump onto the furniture and sleep with us in my bed. She thinks it's cute, but Goliath sheds black hair all over the place, including in my bed (I have white bed linens so the contrast makes it all the more obvious).

I care deeply for Fran and will likely be in an exclusive, meaningful relationship with

JEANNE PHILLIPS

I don't want her dog to be a reason for anger and frustration. How do I politely "enforce" any restrictions on her beloved pet without possibly creating friction between us over Goliath "just being a dog"? — VACUUMING AGAIN

DEAR VACUUMING: The way to "politely enforce" restrictions in vour home is to have the conversation you were afraid to have with Fran the first time she and Goliath came to visit. Tell her that while you adore her, you are not as much of a dog person as she is, and you are not comfortable having Goliath share a bed with the two of you. (Notice I didn't say jump on your couch, because a compromise may be necessary.)

MON COUNTY

Jan. grand jury returns 97 indictments

MORE COVERAGE

BY ERIN CLEAVENGER

ECleavenger@DominionPost.com

The first Monongalia County grand jury of 2024 returned 97 indictments for 85 individuals during the session held Jan. 10-12 at the Monongalia County Justice Center.

This is a significant drop from the previous sessions held in September and May 2023, which returned 139 and 150, respectively.

Defendants face a wide range of charges from shoplifting to attempted murder. The most common charges include drug possession and distribution, fraud and larceny, sexual assault and abuse, domestic violence, sex offender registration violations, and DUI-related offenses.

On the list is one of the individuals involved in the June 10, 2023, shootout that began on Van Voorhis Road and ended at Cowgirlz Lounge on Earl L. Core Road in Dellslow. Tre Tramal Waddy is charged with attempted firstdegree murder for his alleged role in the incident that police say involved gunfire in several locations in Morgantown.

Waddy evaded arrest for over six months until he was located in Fairmont in December 2023 and taken into custody by U.S. Marshals.

Three others, Michael S. Scott, Phineas Chaplin, and Rachel Gaston were taken into custody that day and are facing multiple drug charges in U.S. District Court after being indicted in November 2023. They are currently scheduled for trial in June.

The man accused of starting a fire at the Church of Morning Glory on Mason-Dixon Highway on Oct. 22, 2023, is also among those indicted. Tylor Fortune is facing charges for second-degree arson, breaking and entering, and felony destruction of property after causing over $2,500 in damages.

An 18-year-old woman, Alyssa Bess, said to be involved in what police described as a "melee" between a group of teenagers in October 2023 on Millan Street in Westover, was also among those formally charged by the grand jury. She is accused of malicious assault and two counts of battery. The indictment and police criminal complaint allege she struck one of the victims with brass knuckles.

An employee of the WVU Medicine Pain Management Center, Elizabeth Yost, is facing embezzlement charges after she allegedly pocketed cash meant to be deposited in J.W. Ruby Memorial Hospital accounts. The criminal complaint filed by police states approximately $7,948.60 is believed to have been embezzled by Yost.

The jurors returned multiple indictments for a few individuals, including repeat shoplifters Barry Eugene Dragovich and Jewelie L. George. Dragovich appears on five indictments, all of which include third or subsequent offense shoplifting charges at stores such as Menard's, Walmart and Smoker Friendly.

George is charged along with

AHI will use grant to update museum

DPNews@DominionPost.com

Arthurdale Heritage Inc. was recently awarded a $25,000 grant by the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH).

The grant is one of more than 200, totaling $33.8 million, designated nationwide through the NEH's Public Impact Projects at Smaller Organizations Program.

The grant will be used to assess and reimagine Arthurdale Heritage's primary museum space within the 1934 stone Administration Building, which served as the hub for administering and operating this historic first of its kind subsistence homestead community during the 1930s and 1940s.

Throughout this year AHI plans to work with museum consultants to lav the groundwork for a complete makeover of the exhibits now located in the building and how newer ones

How does virtual reality work?

THE FIRST TIME I WORE VR HEADSETS, IT WAS SUCH A SURREAL EXPERIENCE. I was viewing outer space in a highly detailed manner, almost as though I was actually there, floating and seeing all the planets.

Virtual reality aims to be immersive, which means it tries to make sure the user feels as though they are actually in the environment they're seeing. But for VR to be truly immersive, the user's experiences must match up with reality. For example, if the user is walking at a faster speed than their virtual environment is showcasing, there would be a lack of immersion. This lack of immersion could lead to the user being very aware of the fact that the environment they're experiencing isn't real. Additionally, they could even experience cybersickness, the negative effects of motion sickness, nausea and discomfort that some individuals deal with from VR experiences.

In the real world, the things we experience come through sight, sound, touch, taste and smell. It's through these five senses that we are able to perceive what's happening around us. VR primarily utilizes our vision to trick us into thinking that what we're experiencing is reality. What we see when we wear VR headsets is a 2D plane, but it's intended to be perceived in a 3D manner.

To perceive things in 3D, we depend on the fact that we have binocular vision — that is, we can perceive depth because we have two eyes. Each eye is located on the front of our faces, and the differing locations allow each eye to perceive things from a different viewpoint. The brain is then able to take the overlap within the differing visual fields to extract information about distance. The process of taking the information

MOVIE REVIEW

'I.S.S.' never quite takes off

SPACE HAS ALWAYS FELT LIKE ONE OF THE BEST SETTINGS for thrillers. The silence, the vastness — it all just seems primed for tension. And plenty of filmmakers agree. Stanley Kubrick's "2001: A Space Odyssey." Ridley Scott's "Alien." Paul W. S. Anderson's "Event Horizon." Something about being trapped on a spaceship adds extra tension to an already fraught situation. Now Gabriela Cowperthwaite throws her hat in the ring with the new film "I.S.S." currently in theaters.

WVU Medicine completes 100th transplant surgery

WVU Medicine

WVU Medicine and the WVU Medicine Transplant Alliance recently completed their 100th solid organ transplant surgery.

This milestone marks a significant chapter in the history of the program, which has transformed lives and offered hope to patients facing organ failure across West Virginia and the surrounding region.

"Reaching 100 transplants is a true milestone in the care of our patients," Michael Shullo, WVU Medicine Transplant Alliance vice president, said. "This accomplishment reflects the dedication and expertise of our entire team, from physicians and nurses to coordinators and support staff. Every day, we are humbled by the

The program has performed 37 heart transplants and 63 kidney transplants. Three of the patients received both a heart and a kidney.

"The team at the Transplant Alliance has worked extremely hard to establish the multi-organ transplant center here at WVU Medicine," Dr. George Sokos, WVU Heart and Vascular Institute Department of Cardiology interim chair and WVU Medicine Transplant Alliance medical director, said. "They have worked countless hours preparing pro-

In addition, the significant efforts of the nurses, physicians and other staff throughout the hospital are truly appreciated by the entire transplant team as well as the patients and their families."

More than $1M gift establishes community lectureship

WVU Today

A beloved West Virginia University professor is expanding educational opportunities for students. faculty, staff and the greater Morgantown community via a planned gift of over $1 million to support a lecture focused on political leadership and democratic institutions.

planned gift will be used to bring a distinguished speaker to campus annually for a community-wide lecture addresses an issue related to the functioning of the nation's democratic political order.

"We are thrilled that Eberly College will be home of this important lecture series," Eberly College Dean Gregory Dunaway said. "Professor DiClerico's generous gift will provide an opportunity for our University and College com-DiClerico's munity to engage on topics vital to our democracy. DiClerico's thoughtful vision will leave a lasting and poignant legacy, which is consistent with the ideals and values that his teaching and scholarship exemplified. We are incredibly grateful for Professor DiClerico's impactful gift."

DiClerico noted the topic of the lectureship is timely. He cited a recent survey, conducted by the National Opinion Research Center at the University of Chicago, which found that only 10% of the American people believe the U.S. democracy is working well.

"It's no secret that our own democracy is seen to be in a rather precarious state at the moment and that view is shared by a good many scholars around the country," DiClerico said. "The stipend generated from my gift will bring to the campus individuals who have thought seriously about the interface of political leadership and our institutions and are thus entitled to be listened to. What they have to say will hopefully generate further discussion and reflection within WVU and the Morgantown community."

DiClerico's research on the U.S. presidency and presidential elections made him one of the nation's leading experts on the subject during his time at WVU.

Kira Foster (Ariana DeBose) is a new crew member on the International Space Station. She is coming aboard to work with her two other American crewmates, Gordon Barrett (Chris Messina) and Christian Campbell (John Gallagher Jr.), as well as the three Russian members of the team, Nicholai Pulov (Costa Ronan), Weronika Vetrov (Masha Mashkova), and Alexy Poulov (Pilou Asbæk). The two groups get along well, but when war breaks out on earth between Russia and the United States, both teams receive orders that put them at odds with one another. With a lack of trust among the teammates, can anyone survive?

The first act of this movie felt promising. There wasn't much time given to learning about the crew members, but honestly, that didn't feel like a terrible thing. While we did get some explanation about how things work on the ISS because Foster was new. there was also an expectation that we could figure it out. I appreciated that, as it added to the authenticity of the film. Sadly, when it was time for the tension to rise, I never felt like it reached the boiling point I had hoped for.

With just six people in the cast, this is a movie that is very reliant on the performances, and I felt like they held up. At different times, everyone is overtaken by the stress of the situation, and we can feel that from them. Their surroundings constrained them, so the performance had to show in their faces, and each performer did a solid job.

As I mentioned before, the film lost points for me when it came to a sense of apprehension. Despite the situation that they found themselves in, with each side recognizing that they had the same orders, the movie didn't capitalize on that as much as I hoped. In the most stressful scene, two characters try to keep one another calm, which works. I found that it worked too well because it also left me feeling more calm. I think the inclusion of some additional stressors might have amplified the tension and made the film's overall impact more powerful.

I went into "I.S.S." expecting it to be really great or really terrible. I was surprised to find myself in a middling place where I didn't hate it, but I wasn't blown away either. It's a really fascinating idea that I wish had a little more finesse on it.

from both eyes and combining them together is called stereopsis; this is necessary for creating an immersive environment in

VR headsets show each eye a slightly different picture, which then creates the 3D illusion. To shift the image as the user is moving their head (e.g., if the user is currently able to view a landscape where there's a river off to the right, moving their head to the right should allow them to see more of the river), head-tracking is needed. An accelerometer is used for this. It measures the rate of change of velocity, which is how fast something is going plus the direction (so if something was moving at a constant speed but in a circle, it would still be accelerating due to the change in direction). Accelerometers are also used in some mobile games where certain actions can be done by tilting the phone.

Head-tracking also helps combat cybersickness. If a user doesn't fee like they are experiencing reality (i.e., being fully immersed) as they are moving their heads, they can begin to feel disoriented and nauseous. Additionally, if the vestibular system, which detects the position and movement of our bodies and helps determine our sense of balance, detects a lack of movement but our eyes detect movement, the contrary messages can lead to cybersickness.

After this depth perception is addressed, though, not a lot more is needed to mostly convince our brains that what we're experiencing is real. Even if the graphics appearing through the headset aren't completely realistic, we can have real reactions to what we're perceiving: For example, if what we're seeing is completely animated but it seems as though we're falling off an 800-story building, we will experience fear and panic. This is because our brains have a lot of trust in our vision, even if what we're seeing may not be 100% accurate to the real world. However, there is always the option to remove our headsets in order to stop perceiving the things we

VR can also be helpful in many ways. It can help burn victims experience less pain if they're seeing a winter wonderland, help people overcome phobias, help students understand something at a deeper level (if, say, they're seeing a DNA strand right in front of them), etc. Research is being done on how VR used in surgery can reduce the use of big computers and monitors. If surgeons can see the information needed directly through the VR headsets, the actual big machines won't need to be present in the room, reducing the amount of space needed for surgery to be done and allowing for the room to be utilized more efficiently.

Morgantown's Andrew Phares grateful after accepting PWO offer from WVU

BY MICHAEL GRIFFITH

Sports@DominionPost.com

An opportunity. That's the thought that crossed the mind of Morgantown High senior Andrew Phares when accepting a position as a preferred walk-on for head coach Neal Brown and the West Virginia University Football team.

After a solid senior year for MHS football coach Sean Biser and the Mohigans, Phares will join the Mountaineers in the fall on offense as a PWO and said he is thankful for the chance and eager for what lies ahead.

"This truly means a lot to me, I know all the work that is ahead

I've grown up here all my life," Phares said. "I know how important it will be for me to take advantage of all the opportunities that I get and I'm excited to face those head-on. I'm so thankful that Neal Brown and his staff noticed me and have given me the chance to prove myself."

While a PWO does not receive any athletic scholarship offer, they are guaranteed a roster spot and can earn a scholarship later on, a challenge Phares says he is welcoming with open arms.

"I'm going to redshirt my freshman year and as a walk-on, of me," Phares said. "And really that work starts now, before I'm even done with high school. I have to get in the gym and on the field now to make sure I'm ready for everything. While it's an amazing thing to say I'm a Division-I athlete, I have to show that I am a part of the team and I'm not someone just filling space or occupying a jersey number. I've worked hard to get to this point but honestly, the real work starts now."

In the 2023 season for MHS, Phares led the team in every category through the air with 35

KANSAS GETS CANNED

Pat Suemnick outsizes Kansas' Dickinson, WVU upsets No. 3 Kansas

BY JUSTIN JACKSON

Pat Suemnick didn't want to exactly answer the question. It was OK, because his play on the floor did plenty of talking for him Saturday.

Faced with a mountain of a task, Suemnick and his WVU teammates scaled what many would have thought was impos-

The final: WVU 91, No. 3 Kansas 85, and it ended with a rush of students clad in Gold and Blue celebrating around Suemnick and his fellow victors.

"It was all love," Suemnick said after scoring a career-high 20 points in the win. "The love you feel in that moment for your teammates for getting there. The fans area all over you.

"It's those moments that make the hard days, the early mornings and the 7 a.m. conditionings seem worth it.

Suemnick's task was to play against Kansas center Hunter Dickinson.

That statement doesn't cover Suemnick's challenge, in that Dickinson seems to be the entire package. He's 7-foot-2 and 260 pounds, as well as the Big 12's top rebounder and second-leading

At the end of the season, Dickinson will be showered with plenty of awards.

On this day, though, the question became whether or not Suemnick outplayed Dickinson, a question he paused to answer.

West Virginia's Patrick Suemnick (24) goes up for a lay up shot against Kansas on Saturday evening.

"He did," WVU forward Quinn Slazinski quickly chirped in. "He outplayed him."

WVU (7-11, 2-3 Big 12) wasn't supposed to give the Jayhawks (15-3, 3-2) much of a contest, and Suemnick wasn't supposed to match up with Dickinson inside.

Someone forgot to tell that to the Mountaineers, who ended a six-game losing streak against Kansas, while knocking off a team ranked in the top three for the first time since 2017.

And while Dickinson still had himself a day with 19 points, five rebounds and five assists, Suemnick was WVU's key to victory.

"I didn't think about all of his accolades," Suemnick said. "I'm watching film, and I'm thinking about his weaknesses. You know, he's this tall, but he's slow or he's

"I'm not thinking about he's this or that. I'm thinking about how I can go and get a bucket."

Suemnick got plenty of them this game, including eight consecutive points near the end of what was a wild and crazy first half.

So crazy a first half it was that WVU made nine 3-pointers, yet could never pull away.

Kansas shot 61% in the first half, but the Jayhawks could

WVU's victory against No. 3 Kansas can't be explained by numbers, only heart

There are numbers and theories meant to explain everything from what's going on in the furthest depths of space down to something as simple as the types of air we breathe.

Nothing — no stat, no theory, no analytical breakdown — can explain what happened inside the WVU Coliseum on Saturday.

This is the true beauty of athletics. While we are in an era where schools and professional teams alike are spending thousands of dollars on analytics, there will always be an element to athletics that numbers can't explain.

It's the human element and the emotional element you will never see factored into those reports.

The idea that on any given day, someone — or an entire team for that matter — can rise up above the expected and show more hustle, heart and guts than the guy lined up across them.

"That one felt good," WVU head coach Josh Eilert said. "That is what our guys needed for the confidence to start snowballing in the right direction."

We could say the Mountaineers (7-11, 2-3 Big 12) played a perfect game, but that would make you believe the Jayhawks played a poor one.

They didn't. Kansas shot 53.3% (32 of 60) for the game.

Second straight first quarter shutout pushes WVU past Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio — The Mountaineers held Cincinnati scoreless in the opening quarter on its way to their third straight win on Saturday afternoon, defeating the Bearcats, 72-43. inside Fifth Thirds Arena in Cincinnati.

It marks the second straight contest West Virginia has held an opponent scoreless in the opening quarter. WVU's last two opponents are a combined 0-of-21 from the floor in the opening quarter, holding Houston to a 0-of-13 mark and Cincinnati to 0-of-8 this afternoon. The Mountaineers are outscoring their opponents 32-0 in the opening quarter over the last two contests.

West Virginia scored the game's opening 17 points, extending into the early portion of the second quarter. WVU forced seven turnovers in the opening frame while holding the Bearcats scoreless during the opening 10:35 of action. The Mountaineers held Houston scoreless slightly longer the last time out, not connecting on their first basket till 10:54 of game action.

Cincinnati missed its opening eight attempts from the floor. The WVU run included 13 Bearcat turnovers and five West Virginia steals. The Mountaineers held the Bearcats 20 points below its season-scoring average.

The Mountaineers' (16-2, 5-2 Big 12) scoring efforts were led by junior guard JJ Quinerly, who tallied 23 points. It marks the ninth time this season she has scored over 20 points and her 17th time in double-figures. She added a career-high eight steals.

Sophomore guard Jordan Harrison finished with 15 points and nine assists to narrowly miss a double-double. She added four rebounds and three steals. Senior forward Tavy Diggs added 12 points and fifth-year senior Lauren Fields registered 10 points, two steals and two rebounds.

Junior Kyah Watson led the effort on the glass, grabbing five rebounds.

Defensively, West Virginia forced 29 Bearcat turnovers, reaching 20-plus for the 17th time this season. The 18 steals are the fourth most this season. West Virginia turned those Cincinnati miscues into 35 points.

The Mountaineers shot 46.6% (27-of-58) from the floor and held the Cougars to a mark of 28.6%

University wins OVAC 5A wrestling title

BY KIM NORTH

The Intelligencer

WHEELING - For the first time in nearly four decades, Barnesville finished as the overall team champion as the 70th annual OVAC Ron Mauck wrestling tournament came to a close late Saturday night inside Wes-Banco Arena

The talented Shamrocks piled up 259 points to slip past University which tallied 251.5. It's the first overall championship since 1985. Barnesville also collected its fifth straight Class 3A crown and now has 13 total OVAC Tournament titles.

"The kids battled and battled. We had some kids that stepped up and got higher places on the podium that they were projected," Barnesville head coach Jayson Stephen said. "This is a big deal. It's an awesome feeling but this team had a lot of bigger goals for down the road."

Barnesville led the 42team field with 10 placers, including three champions, a trio of runners up, a third, a fifth and two sixths. Winning his third title, which clinched the team championship, was senior Dakota King (138).

The Ohio State University recruit put on a takedown clinic in his 23-8 technical fall of Cameron's Slaton Pettitt in the finals. He had four of his 11 two-pointers in the first period and coasted from there. All of Pettit's points came on escapes.

"This one feels better than the first two because I finally passed my dad," Dakota said. "He won two and now I'm one up on him.

That feels good."

As much pleasure as he took in passing his father, assistant Barnesville coach T.J. King, he was equally proud to be part of a championship team.

"It's been a long, long time since Barnesville won the OVAC Tournament, so this is an exciting time right now," Dakota added. "It was a total team effort and I'm glad to have been a part of it.

Other Shamrocks claiming titles were senior Skyler King (157), no relation to Dakota, and surprising freshman Colt Carpenter (126). It was Skyler King's second consecutive blanked title as he Steubenville's Savier Faulks 6-0. Carpenter, the No. 5 seed, took down Unisecond-seeded versity's Colton Gillespie, 8-6. That put the Shamrocks ahead by three points and Dakota King's subsequent win sealed the deal.

"The kids did what they had to do," Coach Stephen said. "We had some kids step up, like Colt, and some others. It took an entire team effort."

University head coach Ken Maisel praised the Shamrocks.

"They have a really, really good team," he said. "For a small school they are doing big things. We made a run at them, but just couldn't get over the top."

The Hawks won the Class 5A team title and also had a trio of titlists in threetime champ Luca Felix (165), two-time titlist Brock Kehler (285) and Pepper Martin (106). Felix defeated Barnesville's Ayden King, 8-2, while Kehler pinned Harrison Central's Landen Thomas and Martin deci-sioned Beaver Local's Justus Fisher, 9-1.

Parkersburg which finished as the Class 5A runner up with 203 points, had two champions, as did Steubenville, which finished third in Class 5A with 181.

The Wood County Patriots winners were Gage Wright (175) and Cole Smith (113). The No. 1 nationally ranked Wright posted a 12-2 major decision over Wheeling Park's Jameson Maynard, who was a defending OVAC champion. Smith edged East Liverpool's Tristen Eckles, 3-2.

Big Red winners were sophomore Cooper Smith (144) and senior Brody Saccoccia (150). Smith topped Barnesville senior Karson Milhoan, 5-1, while Saccoccia outlasted the Shamrocks' Reese Stephen, 2-1, in an ultimate tiebreaker.

Wheeling Central was the Class 3A runner up with 101.5 points.

Wheeling Park had a champion in Malaki Washington (190). The sophomore, also a No. 5 seed, won by medical default over Beaver Local's Kane Curran who suffered an ankle injury and couldn't continue.

said before that Malaki was adjusting to that weight class and this weekend I think he made the final adjustment and showed that he is here to stay," Wheeling Park head coach Brian Leggett said.

Wasdhington credited his victory to his training partner.

"I work every day with Jameson Maynard and he really pushes me. Going to camps also helped me further my skills," he said.

Oak Glen's Logan Davis (120) became a three-time champ with a pin of Shenandoah's Tristen Rossiter in 3:49. The win helped the Golden Bears to the Class 4 team title in head coach Josh Cornell's second year. They tied with Indian Creek last year. 'Our depth really came through this weekend." Cornell said. "We had some guys step up and get on the podium. Sure we would've liked to have had more, but we had enough to get the job done."

When asked about Davis, Cornell really didn't know what to say that he already hasn't about his senior stud.

"He just goes out and takes care of business."

Other champions were Harrison Central's Lucas Thomas (215) and Beaver Local's Robert Buccheit (132). Both won their second titles, but Thomas's first came two years ago. He was runner up last year.

Thomas pinned Wheeling Central's Isaac Martin in 5:37.

"This championship feels a lot better than the first because I felt I was more dominant and in control tonight," Thomas said.

Buccheit earned a 3-1 decision over University's Carter Pauley with a late escape.

Wright was voted the Bierkortte Ward winner by tournament coaches as the Most Outstanding Wrestler. Kehler earned the Hercules Award for most pins in the shortest amount of time in the championship bracket.

Cameron won its third straight Class 1A/2A title, but the first under firstyear head coach Derek Martin.

"The kids had a goal coming in here and they accomplished it," Martin noted.

How is our deer hunting compared to other states?

DAVE SAMUEL

The National Deer Association's 2024 Deer Report is out and it compares hunter and harvest data from almost all states using 2022 data (because all states have not finalized harvest data for 2023). I might add, you can get this report by becoming a member of NDA. Just Google National Deer Association's 2024 Deer Report, and sign up (at no cost) to receive their emails (which are very informative) and there will be free access to the Deer Report as well.

The West Virginia buck harvest in the two week buck season in 2020 was 36,472. In 2021 it was 42,143; in 2022 it was 48,938; in 2023 it was 45,155. As you can see, those buck kill numbers for the gun season jump around a bit, and were down 7.5 percent this year compared to last year. They always are down when the mast is up and weather on the first two days will also impact the buck harvest.

The age class of bucks taken is on the upswing for all deer states. In 2022 the average percentage of the antlered buck harvest that was 3 1/2 years and older was 42 percent. That's the highest percentage for older bucks in the harvest ever reported in the United States. In fact that means that one of every three antlered bucks shot in the United States is at least 3 ½ years old. In West Virginia 40 percent of all bucks harvested were 3 1/2 years or older. That's an amazing number since we don't have any antler restrictions as some states do. There are no data on this in the report for Pennsylvania where they have antler restrictions, but for Ohio the percent of all bucks harvested that were $3 \frac{1}{2}$ years or older was 29 percent. The 2022 percentage of antlerless harvest by age class in Ohio was 42 percent being 3 ½ or older.

The bow and crossbow harvests in West Virginia have been consistent the past three years. In 2022 it was 32,850; 31,362 in 2021; 29.508 in 2020. In 2022, 28 percent of the West Virginia deer harvest was taken with bows or crossbows, 67 percent by rifle or shotgun and 5 percent by muzzleloader.

What about the percentage of successful deer hunters? In the United States in 2022, 41 percent of hunters successfully harvested at least one deer. Interestingly in 2011 that number was 48 percent indicating a considerable drop in hunter success over the years. In 2022, 21 percent of hunters successfully harvested at least two deer. In West Virginia in 2022 50 percent of hunters successfully harvested at least one deer, while 15 percent of hunters successfully harvested more than one deer.

Eighteen of 45 states that responded to the NDA's survey for the Deer Report noted that the use of drones is legal during deer season. In West Virginia our regulations read that "there is nothing to prevent anyone from operating a drone during any hunting season, however, it is unlawful at any time to: use a drone to hunt, take, kill, wound, harass, shoot at, drive or herd wild animals for the purposes of hunting, trapping or killing." Baiting is a hot topic in all states. Twenty-two of 43 states (51%) that responded to the NDA survev allow the use of baiting in at least some part of their jurisdiction. Of those states, 11 of 22 (50%) permit it statewide and seven of 19 (37%) allow baiting in disease management zones. The National Deer Association believes the future of baiting will be increasingly decided by political desires and actual disease outbreaks rather than recommendations from wildlife profession-

As noted in the first paragraph of this column, you can get the NDA 2024 Deer Report at no cost.

It's definitely worth your time.

Also of note, West Virginia has now recorded 10plus steals in a game for the 16th time this season.

Next up, West Virginia returns to Morgantown on Saturday, Jan. 27, when the Mountaineers play host to Iowa State. threatened to take the momentum, the Jayhawks answered right back and put points on the board.

Kansas only turned the ball over seven times. It finished with 22 assists. No, the Jayhawks did not simply hand this game over to the Mountaineers. Instead, WVU went out and took it.

"It was all energy and effort," was the way WVU guard RaeQuan Battle tried to explain it after finishing with an impressive 23 points that saw him make an array of one tough shot after another: "The main thing with us is we know we can do it. We can beat any team in the country. We just have to be consistent and bring it every night."

The "it" Battle spoke of is passion and consistency and heart.

So many times this season, the Mountaineers have lacked all of it.

Don't get me wrong, they had plenty of legitimate reasons not to be on their A game. This team has gone through more adversity than the entire collection of Sylvester Stallone's movie characters.

OK, maybe not Rambo, because John Rambo dealt with some pretty heavy stuff, but you get the picture.

So how in the world did WVU players simply decide this was going to be the day they took a stand?

How did this suddenly become the day that WVU decided they were better than what all those numbers and analytical reports said they were?

That's the funny thing about what transpired Saturday, because there probably isn't a good answer for that question.

Eilert credited some of the victory to more effort, that WVU seemed to be quicker to the ball than in other games.

Maybe the fact the other jerseys read "Kansas" on them brought out that higher level of passion.

The real question to be asked is whether this was a one-time deal? Will WVU suddenly slip back into reality or does this level of play become the Mountaineers' new reality?

That question may have an answer. "It's one thing to get a top 25 win against Texas. It's another thing to beat a Hall Of Fame coach (Bill Self) and a top 5 program at home," Eilert said. "Hopefully, that goes a long way for our confidence in terms of moving forward and continuing the grind through the Big 12, because it really is a grind."

his 23 points in the first half. Kansas shot 50% from 3-point range. It all led to a 51-51 tie at the break.

"I thought that they were great," Kansas head coach Bill Self said. "We couldn't guard them, and they couldn't stop us. We didn't come prepared to defend them. We lost this game because we couldn't guard."

That included Suemnick, who a year ago Self may not have had to worry about guarding. That's rapidly changed, with Suemnick seizing an opportunity for more playing time this season and making the most of it.

"His role is different," Self said of Suemnick. "We look at everybody, but his role is significantly different. He played great. He was the second-best player they had. I thought he was great and he made a couple of big plays late.'

How did Suemnick pull it off? Rather than simply coaching him to stay back, WVU head coach Josh Eilert decided to put Suemnick in positions to challenge the Kansas big man.

"I would say, tonight, that yes (Suemnick) got the most of him," Eilert said. "I would have never thought that Suemnick would have got 15 field-goal attempts by any means.

"I was hoping we could put Hunter in every single ball screen that we could put him in, and that was kind of the game plan going in."

Suemnick kept coming of those screens and headed for the basket and WVU point guard Noah Farrakhan and Kerr Kriisa kept finding him near the basket.

"Pat is not a traditional big, and that kind of worked in our favor in some instances, especially on the offensive end," Eilert added.

WVU sealed the upset by going 9 of 10 from the foul line over the final 34 seconds. Suemnick didn't have a hand in any of that.

He had already proved his worth by then.

"Honestly, I just think we wanted it more," Suemnick said. "Before the game, (Eilert) had told us that (Kansas) didn't even have a shoot-around. I'm sitting there thinking they were looking right over us.

"It just lit up a chip on our shoulder. They're overlooking us. All right, let's go take it from them."

No. 1 Iga Swiatek exits Australian Open in a 3rd-round loss to Czech teenager Linda Noskova

Associated Press

MELBOURNE, Aus $tralia - Already \ down \ a \ set$ and facing a break point against Iga Swiatek, No. 50ranked Linda Noskova decided she had nothing to

She won 11 of the next 12points to take the second set and swing momentum in their third-round match Saturday, ultimately becoming the first teenager to beat a No. 1-ranked woman at the Australian Open since 1999.

With a big serve and equally big groundstrokes, she unsettled Swiatek and held her cool, even under pressure in the last game to serve it out, for a 3-6, 6-3, 6-4 victory that means there's no top 10 players in the top half of the draw.

"I'm just really kind of exhausted mentally and physically," Noskova said in her post-match news conference following the upset. "I just believed my game tonight. I just really wanted

Swiatek is a four-time major winner but has never been past the semifinals at Melbourne Park. Even so, she was on an 18-match winning streak and expected to account for the 19-year-old Noskova, who is making her main draw debut at the tournament.

Swiatek beat 2020 Australian Open champion Sofia Kenin in the first round and had to rally from 4-1 down in the third to overcome 2022 finalist Danielle Collins in the sec-

But after taking the first set against her Czech opponent, she struggled for rhythm. The decisive break was in the seventh game of the third set, with two forehand errors Swiatek the game.

Two games later, she held at love and forced her rival serve it out, then jumped to 0-30 lead in the 10th game.

But Noskova won the the next four points to finish it off quickly, including an ace to set up match point. She'll next play Wimbledon semifinalist Elina Svitolina.

Swiatek said the tough opening matches didn't hurt her.

"Physically I felt — honestly, I didn't feel anything. So pretty good," she said. "Mentally, as well, I felt like actually I came back in my match against Danielle, and I could kind of start over and not expect a lot, just try to play my game.

"I felt like I had everything under control until she broke me in the second set," the 22-year-old Pole added. "Sometimes, yeah, I was rushing it. I just wasn't playing kind of with my intuition and naturally."

Swiatek's loss leaves No. 12 Zheng Qinwen as the highest-ranked player and two-time Australian Open winner Victoria Azarenka as the only past major winner in the top half of the draw.

Defending champion Aryna Sabalenka, seeded second, U.S. Open champion Coco Gauff, seeded fourth, and No. 9 Barbora Krejcikova are all on the opposite half.

The men's draw remains stacked, with No. 2 Carlos Alcaraz, No. 3 Daniil Medvedev and No. 6 Alexander Zverev having straight-set wins Saturday to reach the fourth round. Top-ranked Djokovic, No. 4 Jannik Sinner and No. 5 Andrey Rublev already reached the last 16 on the top half of the draw.

Medvedev beat Felix Auger-Aliassime 6-3, 6-4, 6-3 and finished 2 1/2 hours before midnight local time. His second-round match finished close to 4 a.m. Fri-

He will next play Nuno Borges, who upset No. 13 Grigor Dimitrov 6-7 (3), 6-4, Wimbledon champion Alcaraz was leading 6-1, 6-1, 1-0 when the 18-year-old Shang Juncheng retired in the third set.

"It's not the way you want to move on," said the 20-year-old Alcaraz, who missed the 2023 Australian Open because of injury. "Last year I was watching the matches from my couch, wishing to be in the second week.'

Alcaraz will Miomir Kecmanovic, who saved two match points before upsetting 2023 semifinalist Tommy Paul 6-4, 3-6, 2-6, 7-6 (7), 6-0.

No. 9 Hubert Hurkacz beat No. 21 Ugo Humbert 3-6, 6-1, 7-6 (4), 6-3 and will play another Frenchman wildcard Arthur Cazaux.

French Open finalist and No. 11 seed Casper Ruud lost 6-4, 6-7 (7), 6-4, 6-3 to No. 19 Cam Norrie.

Azarenka won back-toback women's titles here in 2012 and '13. On Saturday, she took out 2017 French Open winner Jelena Ostapenko 6-1, 7-5.

She trailed 5-2 in the second before winning five straight games.

"I'm just ready to give whatever it takes," she said. "I'm going to stay out here as long as it needs to be."

Azarenka's next opponent will be Ukrainian qualifier Dayana Yastremska, a 6-2, 2-6, 6-1 winner over No. 27 Emma Navarro.

Anna Kalinskaya beat 2017 U.S. Open winner Sloane Stephens 6-7 (8), 6-1, 6-4 to set up a meeting with Jasmine Paolini. Lamar Jackson and Ravens pull away in the second half to beat Texans 34-10 and reach AFC title game

Associated Press

BALTIMORE — Lamar Jackson had already done plenty of running by the time he reached the end zone in the fourth quarter.

Apparently, he still had quite a bit of energy, leaping past the photographers and disappearing into the tunnel in a celebration that seemed cathartic for the All-Pro quarterback.

Jackson threw touchdown passes and ran for two scores, and the Baltimore Ravens pulled away in the second half for a 34-10 win over the Houston Texans on Saturday to advance to the AFC championship game. It was only the second victory in five playoff games for Jackson, a fact he was well aware of.

'You know I heard that," he said. "I don't even got to hear it. I see it. But it is what it is. I really don't care about what people say. ... Those guys just had our team's number in the past, but it's a different team."

Jackson made some more history Saturday, becoming the first quarterback since at least 1948 — in the regular season or playoffs — with at least two touchdown passes, two TD runs, 100 yards rushing and a 100 passer rating in the same game.

'Credit to Lamar," Texans coach DeMeco Ryans said. "He made a ton of great plays. That's why he's the MVP."

The Ravens (14-4) dominated the second half after the teams finished the second quarter tied at 10. Jackson said he did most of the talking at halftime.

Baltimore Ravens quarterback Lamar Jackson (8) runs into the end zone for a touchdown against the Houston Texans during the second half of an NFL football AFC divisional playoff game, Saturday, in Baltimore.

"A lot of cursing," he said.

Jackson's 15-yard scoring run put Baltimore ahead to stay. Although C.J. Stroud had a solid, composed first half for Houston, the Texans (11-8) ultimately couldn't turn enough promising drives into points against an impressive Ravens defense. Now Baltimore will host the AFC title game for the first time since January 1971, when the Colts beat the Oakland Raiders on their way to a Super Bowl championship. The Ravens will play in that semifinal round for the fifth time since their arrival in Baltimore. They'll take on the winner of Sunday's matchup Buffalo between Kansas City.

"Our fans are going to get a chance to cheer just as loud or louder than they did in this game, and they were amazing," Ravens coach John Harbaugh said. "I thought our fans were incredible. Man, it was deafening out there."

Harbaugh's brother Jim was on hand for the game, returning the favor after John went to watch Jim coach Michigan to college football's national title earlier this month.

Ravens fans have been haunted by what happened in the playoffs four years ago, when Baltimore went 14-2 in the regular season but dropped its postseason opener to Tennessee. Houston did enough to create some anxiety, especially when Steven Sims returned a punt for a touchdown and Jackson struggled at times with the blitzing Texans defense.

But on the first possession of the second half, Jackson guided Baltimore 55 yards in six plays and scored on a run up the middle. Then, a 15-yard touchdown pass to Isaiah Likely early in the fourth made it 24-10.

Jackson's final touchdown came on an 8-yard run with 6:20 to play, and the fired up quarterback kept running right into the tunnel in that corner of the Sims' return was the only TD for the Texans, whose offense never did reach the end zone in 120 minutes against Ravens this season. Houston lost 25-9 in its season opener at Baltimore.

Jackson rushed for 821 yards during the regular season, which is a big part of the case for his second MVP award. But he surpassed 100 yards on the ground only once. He ran for exactly 100 on Saturday on 11 attempts. A 14-yard bootleg on fourth-and-1 near midfield led to the touchdown by Likely that gave the Ravens some breathing room.

Jackson also passed for 152 yards.

"Lamar is a dog. I've been a fan of his since high school," Stroud said. "It's really an honor to share the field with a player like that."

Stroud threw 175 yards and didn't take a sack against a tough Baltimore defensive front, but the Texans dropped to 0-5 in the divisional round of the playoffs. They're the only current franchise hasn't reached a conference championship game.

The Ravens led the NFL in sacks this season, but it was Jackson who was under pressure in the first half, when Houston got to him three times. Two of those sacks came back-to-back in the final minute of the second quarter after a missed field goal gave Baltimore decent field position.

Rhode Island

Mini Fact:

Rhode Island is known for a variety of local seafood, such as clams, lobster, quahogs, oysters and calamari.

It might be our smallest state, but Rhode Island is filled with history, beautiful ocean views and sandy shores. The Mini Page learns more about Rhode Island this week.

Smallest state

Rhode stretches only about 48 miles from north to south and 37 miles from east to west.

Its statehood was granted on May 29, 1790, making it the 13th state to join the Union. Rhode Island is also known as "Little Rhody" and the "Ocean State."

Its top industries are health care services, tourism, and manufacturing of boats, electronics, and ocean and information technology. Jewelry-making has been a top industry in Rhode Island for about 200 years. Two brothers, Nehemiah and Seril Dodge, started the American jewelry-making industry.

Colony of Rhode Island

Several Algonquian Native American tribes lived in the area for centuries. In 1636, Roger Williams fled Massachusetts to seek religious freedom. His friend Anne Hutchinson fled with him and settled nearby. Their communities joined others in the area to form the colony of Rhode Island.

It was the first colony to make it illegal to bring in slaves, in 1652. It was also the first colony to declare independence from Britain. It is the 43rd-most populated state, with about 1 million people. Things it's known for

• The Ocean State has more than 400 miles of coastline, including around bays and islands. The state is on Narragansett Bay, which connects to the Atlantic Ocean.

• Samuel Slater, a cotton millworker, started the first successful water-powered cotton mill in America in Pawtucket in 1793. The English refused to allow him to leave England because they didn't want the secrets of their machine-made cloth to get out. But he escaped to America and helped start the American Industrial Revolution.

• The U.S. Navy began in Rhode Island when the colony urged the Continental Congress to form a navy to fight British ships in 1775. The U.S. Naval War College is in Newport.

 Extreme wealth allowed many of the richest Americans in the 1800s, such as the Vanderbilts and Astors, to build mansions in Newport as their summer homes.

Eco Note

The World Meteorological Organization (WMO) warns that nearly 40% of the regions it studied around the world now suffer from drierthan-normal conditions, threatening water resources. In a new WMO report, the U.N. agency said the more arid conditions will cause the flow rates of many rivers to be "significantly below what would normally be expected." Also, reduced levels of soil moisture, combined with more frequent heat waves, are causing reductions in crop yields and drops of groundwater levels.

Libraries in the 21st century

Perhaps you've seen those "alternative" weather maps that measure the snow forecast not in inches of accumulation, but in number of books you'll need to keep yourself entertained until you can get out again.

These images, of course, don't depict an actual forecast, but they reminded us of something very important: Even when the snow is deep and the roads are impassable, you still have a whole world of digital, audio and visual entertainment at your fingertips for free as long as you have a library card and internet.

Libraries have long been imagined as stoic places of vast knowledge, overseen by older women sporting severe buns and half-rim glasses perched on the tip of their noses who will shush anyone who dares to speak above a whisper. It took a long time for public perception to meet the reality of public libraries as places where you can access not only books but computers and internet and, even more than that, places where the community can come together (for free) to learn and play and meet others with common interests.

And some people haven't realized that public libraries have come even further into the 21st century: Not only do they have physical collections; they now have vast and varied digital collections that you can access from your home computer or smartphone.

Morgantown Public reminded us of this last week when bad weather forced it to close: "... check out our digital library for some cozy reads on this wintry day! https://www.mym pls.org/download-it/'

Follow that link and suddenly you have hundreds of e-books, audiobooks, movies and magazines, as well as newspaper archives, language and art classes, genealogy and research resources and more. All you need is a library card and internet.

At least some people in our area have discovered the library-beyond-thelibrary: Sarah Palfrey, executive director of the Morgantown Public Library System, said the system had 176,175 digital borrows in fiscal year 2023, and just under half of the system's total circulation happened online.

But as any good book will teach you, every success has its cost. Digital loans can be more expensive for libraries because publishers can increase the cost of a book license (one license equals one copy) or limit the time the license can be used, forcing libraries to buy it again if there is still demand for the book after the license expires. On top of that, the library's partnership with Hoopla which lets readers access less popular titles then charges the library a fee per use — cost it $4,000 per month last year.

The library is happy to facilitate this access — and we can help facilitate its work by approving the library levy when it comes up on the ballot in May.

We can also support the library by using it: through digital downloads or by browsing the shelves in person or attending the many events it hosts. As Palfrey said, "libraries are more relevant than ever, because we do have all the information in the world accessible through our phones, but there's still a need for a public space to connect with people Stories are so much more impactful when they're shared between people."

THE "SNOW PROUGHT" IS OVER WHAT'S THIS WHITE STUFF CALLED AGAIN?

Lan completely wrong on climate change

The article about Dr. Lan urging people to keep an open mind on climate change (DP-01-13-24) might have been posted on the opinion page, but as a news article, it was terribly one-sided and reported known fallacies as factual.

Scientists have known for over 40 years that greenhouse gases are warming the climate and that fossil fuels are the dominant source of those gases. While there are still minor uncertainties over just how fast the planet is warming, the assertion that "we should not waste money for green energy" because of those uncertainties is unsupported by science and economics.

For example, Lan suggests that the urban heat island effect may have biased climate models. But that urban heat island has been known for almost two centuries and climate models account for that. To suggest otherwise is obsolete, outdated and simply wrong.

Likewise, the role of the sun and changes in solar activity have been incorporated in climate models and account for negligible changes in Earth's temperature.

Lan also quotes a "report" in Ceres-Science from Dr.

Willie Soon but fails to mention that this is funded by fossil fuel interests and that Soon has been widely discredited due to conflicts of interest and ethics violations.

Finally, economists know that the cost of inaction is much higher than the cost of green energy. The Wall Street Journal reports that "Economic modeling shows unchecked climate change could ravage every region of the global economy; but decarbonizing by midcentury would net $43 trillion over 50 years.'

While reporters should report both sides of a real controversy, they should not exacerbate bias by inferring credibility to ideas so far outside the mainstream, at least not without some simple factchecking. Sensational claims have no place in real news.

CONGRESSIONAL LEADERS ARE REPORTED TO BE CLOSE TO A DEAL THAT WOULD RESTORE PRESIDENT JOE BIDEN'S 2021 EXPANSION OF THE CHILD TAX CREDIT IN EXCHANGE FOR BRINGING BACK A PAIR OF DEDUCTIONS FOR BUSINESS INVESTMENT. Although such an agreement would be expected to add at least $100 billion to the budget deficit over the next two years, both sides say they're confident they can limit the cost to $70 billion.

I am less confident, but the core elements of this deal are good and the House and Senate should pass it even if the hit to the budget is $100 billion. That might sound strange given the dire fiscal straits the U.S. is in, but not all deficit increases are created equal. The two halves of this deal provide the biggest bang for the buck — in terms of reducing poverty and growing the economy — on offer in the world of tax policy. Biden's child tax credit expansion was in place for just one year, but in that one year it helped slash child poverty to a record low 5.2%.

THE TWO HALVES OF THIS DEAL PROVIDE THE BIGGEST BANG FOR THE BUCK ON OFFER IN THE WORLD OF TAX POLICY.

The cost of not lowering child poverty is extreme. A 2018 paper published by Social Work Research and authored by Washington University professors Michael McLaughlin and Mark Rank estimated the total cost of child poverty on the U.S. economy to exceed $1 trillion per year. Their analysis showed that reductions in worker productivity, increases in crime and increases in health care costs were the largest contributors to the economic loss associated with child poverty.

Of the two business tax deductions, bonus depreciation was still largely in place in 2023 and helped enable manufacturers to their domestic double investments to take advantage of Biden's onshoring initiatives. Yet, it's set to phase out over the next several years. Under bonus depreciation, companies can write off the full cost of investments in both new facilities and equipment when calculating their taxable income for the year in which those investments are made. The other business tax deduction does the same thing for research and development expenses.

Without these two benefits businesses would be forced to amortize such expenses over the expected lifetime of an investment rather than all at once upfront. The former discourages businesses from making big investments all at once, the opposite of what Biden wanted to achieve and in large measure did achieve with his reshoring policy. The Tax Foundation, a Washington think-tank that specializes in economic models of tax policy, estimates that the loss of the two amortization reforms would reduce gross domestic product by 1.2 percentage points to 1.4 percentage points a year, or $275 billion to $325 billion annually

The modeling for the child tax credit generates equally impressive numbers. The Census Bureau

The comfort of cows

WHEN THE WEATHER GETS REALLY AWFUL, AS IT NORMALLY DOES IN JANUARY AROUND HERE, I FIND MYSELF YEARNING FOR THE COM-PANIONSHIP OF COWS. "Around here" is Arkansas, where my wife and I lived on a cattle farm in Perry County for nine years until her eyesight went bad and we had to move back to town.

"You cain't keep no Little Rock girl on a gravel road if she cain't drive," my neighbor George opined. No kidding. We'd have spent all our time bickering about me driving her to the city for various girlfriend activities, doctor appointments, etc.

Nobody in Perry County ever mistook her for a country girl. When a 10-year-old neighbor girl had mixed feelings after shooting her first deer, she drove straight to Diane on her four-wheeler.

"He never done nothing to me," she cried, "and I kilt him."

The kid got over it, and we never told her folks about it.

Diane loved it out on the farm. and particularly enjoyed feeding apple slices out of her hand to Bernie the bull, all 2,400 muscular pounds of him. As fond as Bernie was of walking through barbed wire fences, pushing the neighbor's bull around and breeding his cows, he was careful around Diane.

But George was right. Deprived of mobility, the place would have felt like a 40-acre prison to her.

George was the county cowwhisperer, the go-to guy when you had a problem you couldn't handle. He and his partner, Tyler, would turn up whenever you called, hauling whatever equipment they needed to set you right. Best of all, they worked for pay, which made things simpler. As an apprentice redneck, I needed their help.

Especially come January. If you're going to have a cow melodrama, chances are it will involve bad weather. One emergency I did manage on my own took place during a winter storm featuring freezing rain and 30 mph winds. The barometer drops, and pregnant cows go into labor.

Suzanne, a particularly lovely, sweet-natured animal who enjoyed having her ears scratched, chose to deliver her calf out in the open, next to the hay ring where she and her girlfriends were chowing down on a round bale I'd put out. They eat pretty much nonstop in frigid weather. A halfdozen cows will make a 1,200pound round bale disappear in four or five days.

Something had to be done. Wet with afterbirth, the calf would never survive until morning lying in the sleet and wind. So I told Diane to keep watch just in case. Filled with hormones, even the gentlest cow can be terribly dangerous if she thinks you're a threat to her newborn. If Suzanne got me down, Diane might need to phone George.

But Suzanne trusted me. She let me pick up the slippery 85-pound heifer, carry it backward through a nearby gate and kick the gate shut in her face. Then she pivoted and ran clear around the barn to the only stall not occupied by horses. By the time I arrived carrying the little heifer we named Violet, Suzanne was waiting expectantly.

How she knew where I was going was almost as much a mystery as why she hadn't given birth there to begin with. But sometimes it does feel as if cows can read your mind. They're far more intelligent than people think, although stubborn, which humans often equate with stupidity.

Suzanne doubtless felt more secure in the herd. Cows are extremely social; all decisions are group decisions and they dislike being alone. As soon as Violet could stand and nurse, mother and daughter rejoined the others at the hay ring. They are remarkably resilient animals.

About a year later, I sold Violet to a fellow who was so taken with her beauty that he kept her in a pen near the house where he could pet her. I couldn't have Bernie impregnating his daughters, so when they approached breeding age, they had to go.

Mine was basically a boutique operation, thoroughbred Fleckvieh Simmental cows worth far more as breeding stock than as beef cattle.

Ultimately, Bernie's fencetrampling made him increasingly unpopular among my neighbors. I called Violet's new owner, who'd expressed an interest in buying him. He said he couldn't afford him, but asked if I'd take Violet back as half the sales price.

Violet and Suzanne recognized each other at 100 yards the moment she stepped out of the cattle trailer. If you didn't know, you might have thought they were twins. They galloped together and began licking and nuzzling each other like what they were — a mother and daughter cruelly separated and reunited.

I like to cried, as people in Perry County say.

And I still miss the company of cows and the people who raise them.

Mennonites demonstrate against Israel-Hamas war

This past Tuesday, I was part of a group of 130 Mennonites who were arrested in the atrium of a U.S. House office building in Washington, D.C., as we sang for peace and a ceasefire with regard to the conflict in Gaza an action my Morgantown church participated in.

Our position honors a truth against a false choice our elected officials have presented since Oct. 7. Are you on the side of the Hamas terrorists who took the lives of 1,200 Israelis or on the side of the powerful Israeli military that has taken the lives of over 24,000 Gazans (nearly 11,000 of whom are children) since Oct. 7 and the tens of thousands who died before the conflict started?

The answer needn't be one or the other — it can be neither. The Hamas attack was horrific, and the Israeli response has also been horrific, or if you think all human beings' lives have equal worth — which I hope you do — 20 times as horrific.

The fact that that differential has been roughly the pattern across the last three Democratic and three Republican administrations should be a sign that something we're doing hasn't worked and is making things

As Americans and — in the case of us Mennonites - Christians, we can't choose whose life has more or less value; we must educate ourselves because our decisions and indecision are costing innocent lives daily. And our West Virginia congressional delegation cannot and should not be touting $14.3 billion to fund Israel's response.

We must hold those officials accountable: ceasefire now; ceasefire always.

Raising interstate speed limit a terrible idea

What are our state representatives thinking? I saw in Jan. 12's The Dominion Post that they have passed or want to pass a bill to raise the speed limit on interstates to 80 miles an hour. With the way people drive nowadays — with no regard to speed limits anyway and running red lights — do they really think this is a good idea?

I think they better rethink that idea, because some drivers have or make too many distractions to be going 80 miles an hour. I can see more wrecks in the future of our interstate highways.

All I can say to all who travel these highways: Watch out for yourselves.

Where those city fathers thought all the revelers, tipplers and couch-burners would go, I haven't a clue. But being a sometimes logical lot, said heck-raisers took their rabble rousing and tippling mostly downtown.

In a sense downtown is becoming Sunnyside South — just shinier than the former version. And with no free parking.

Now said city fathers want to replace a 300-bed area in the Richwood area, occupied mainly by students, with new housing. Said housing would have lodging above shops — as well as brew pubs. Their hope is "young professionals" will occupy the area.

There seem to be no plans for couch-burning areas. So far. But who knows what the future holds?

Israel's trial on genocide charges before a UN court should be a wake-up call for Jerusalem

THE CHARGE OF "GENOCIDE" LEVELED AT ISRAEL BEFORE THE INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE IN THE HAGUE, NETHERLANDS, SHOULD BE A WAKE-UP CALL FOR JERUSALEM, but not for the reasons you might think.

South Africa has accused Israel before the United Nations highest court of taking actions against Palestinian civilians in Gaza that are "genocidal in character" and "calculated to bring about their physical destruction." The reference is to the humanitarian catastrophe in the Gaza Strip caused by Israeli bombs in retaliation for Hamas' mass murder of 1,200 Jews, mostly civilians, on Oct. 7.

As the world can see on cable and social media, 80% of Gaza's 2.2 million people are now refugees living in squalor. Israel is permitting insufficient humanitarian aid into Gaza to cope with horrific shortages of food, water, health care, and shelter. Two-thirds of the strip's housing has been pulverized, and 23,000 Palestinians have been killed — two-thirds of them women and children.

Yet the immediate issue is not whether the court ultimately rules for or against Israel. The case is likely to drag on for years, while South Africa must prove there was deliberate Israeli intent to destroy the Palestinian population in Gaza (rather than, say, indifference to civilian collateral damage from bomb strikes on Hamas tunnels).

the International Rather, Court of Justice case shines a spotlight on Israel's failure to recognize the immediate consequences of the kind of warfare it is conducting. There is increasing dismay among Israel's closest allies, along with its Arab partners, at Jerusalem's refusal to alleviate the widespread suffering in Gaza — even under heavy U.S. pressure to do so.

The moral and strategic blindness of the government of Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu is pushing Israel toward global isolation while allowing Hamas to ensnare it in an endless Gaza

How so? The Israeli military strategy so far has apparently been to destroy Gazan infrastructure with abandon in order to unveil entrances to Hamas underground tunnels with fewer military casualties than would be required to send soldiers door to door. Yes. Israeli warnings were sometimes given, and civilians urged to move south, but with no electricity, a complex and unreliable Israeli warning system, and constant shifts in bombing, nowhere in Gaza has been safe for internal refugees.

Moreover, the rules of Israeli engagement are so relaxed that Israel Defense Forces soldiers shot dead three escaped Israeli hostages who had taken off their shirts (to show they had no explosive vests) and were waving a white flag. In other words, no Gazan civilian is safe.

But despite the massive civilian casualties, Israel has still been unable to locate and destroy much of Hamas' tunnel structure or find its top leaders. IDF generals say that will take months to do. However, Israel does not want to keep the bulk of its military based in Gaza indefinitely, but rather to pull back and regularly reenter to keep after Hamas.

Yet 1.8 million Gazans have been displaced, with most having no homes, schools, businesses, or hospitals to return to. The strip and its infrastructure have been physically destroyed; the above-Hamas government ended. No one knows who will run the place or distribute humanitarian aid once the heavy bombing stops, let alone rebuild,

Nor will the Arab Gulf States or the "international community" finance reconstruction or help run the Gaza Strip in lieu of and Israel doesn't want to.

Hamas officials — as Jerusalem is requesting — if Israeli-Hamas fighting continues. Saudi leaders have told U.S. officials they will only do so if Israel makes clear it will support Palestinian statehood side by side with Israel, something Netanyahu has said he will never do.

So, if you pay attention to what Israeli cabinet ministers are saying — and what Netanyahu is telling U.S. officials — the unannounced Israeli strategy seems to be to depopulate Gaza.

Far-right Israeli cabinet ministers (who have bolstered South Africa's long-term case with calls to "flatten Gaza" or drop a nuke on Gaza or cut off food and urging that Gazans be "voluntarily" resettled in other countries.

Israeli media has reported that Netanyahu is pressuring Egypt to take in hundreds of thousands of Gazans and has even asked the Democratic Republic of the Congo to take some. The radical nationalist Finance Minister Bezalel Smotrich told Israeli Army Radio, "If there are 100,000 or 200,000 Arabs in Gaza and not two million Arabs, the entire discussion on the day after will be totally different."

That is a pipe dream. Egypt has made clear that any Israeli attempt to force Palestinians to cross into its Sinai Desert would jeopardize its peace treaty with Israel. The last thing Cairo wants, with its broken economy, is to take responsibility for a million impoverished and bitter Palestinians in tent camps, who will agitate for war with Israel. Egypt is already hosting hundreds of thousands of Sudanese and Libyan refugees.

Moreover, Smotrich and other key Israeli ministers want to resettle Gaza with Israelis and to effectively annex that territory along with the West Bank, from which they also seek to push out Palestinians by making their lives untenable.

This is called "ethnic cleansing." It is a war crime, and the White House has warned Netanyahu not to try.

"Israelis can't understand how they could be accused of genocide," reads a headline in Israeli newspaper Haaretz. Indeed. the term genocide was devised by a Polish Jewish lawyer in 1944 to describe the systematic, deliberate Nazi slaughter of six million Jews during World War II. The U.N. General Assembly adopted the Genocide Convention in 1948 to prevent such a horror from happening again.

I get it. The country is still reeling from the rape, mutilation, and murder of more than 1,000 civilians by Hamas, which calls for the annihilation of the state of Israel and its Jews. Netanyahu government Gazan civilians are suffering because Hamas embeds among and underneath them.

That's true. But it doesn't change the reality that Israel's revenge on Gaza makes it responsible for a humanitarian disaster of immense proportions. It may not fit the definition of genocide, but it could get there if conditions deteriorate into an epidemic — or if Gazans are driven into the Egyptian desert.

The ongoing tragedy bolsters the continued strength of Hamas.

The White House and Arab states are trying to persuade Netanyahu to consider alternative strategies to rebuild the strip, including a political vision for the Palestinians' future. The Hague proceedings should (but probably will not) focus his mind.

estimates that the expansion of the child tax credit in 2021 from $2,000 to as much as $3,600 per child lifted 2.1 million children out of poverty. Using the Census Bureau's Supplemental Poverty Measure, which includes the effect of refundable tax credits, 2021expansion reduced the child poverty rate in the U.S. from 8.1% to 5.3%. The child poverty among Blacks shrank even more, from 13.4% to 8.1%. (The expanded child tax credit program expired at the end of 2021, going back to $2,000 per child.)

The benefits that accompanied lower poverty rates were supercharged by the Biden administration's stimulus checks to support the economy through the pandemic. The Census Bureau estimates that without either the expansion in the child tax credit or fiscal stimulus, the child poverty rate would have been 12.6% overall and 20.2% for Blacks.

The federal government spent $6.1 trillion in fiscal 2023. Spending $100 billion over the next two years to bring 2.1 million children out of poverty and to grow the economy by as much as $325 billion each year is an incredible deal. It's a much better return than what taxpayers will receive on the other 99% of government outlays. That doesn't mean we can afford to ignore the rising deficit. Major spending cuts and significant tax increases are necessary. It's vital however that we make cuts and design tax increases in intelligent and efficient ways rather than passing on the best deals we have.

W.Va. Child Protective Services needs sunlight

LAST OCTOBER, KANAWHA COUNTY SHER-IFF'S DEPUTIES WERE CALLED TO A HOME IN SISSONVILLE TO INVESTIGATE A REPORT OF SUSPECTED CHILD ABUSE. When they arrived, the police made a shocking discovery. Two young teenagers were locked in a small shed. Another child. a 3-year-old, was alone in the house.

Deputies said the children in the shed had been deprived of adequate food, water and clothing or a working toilet. "I was repulsed, for lack of a better term," said Deputy H.K. Burdette. "As soon as the door was opened, the heat from inside hit us. The smell ... it was terrible. Just the condition of the shed was devastating."

Authorities have charged the children's adoptive parents, Donald Ray Lantz and Jeanne Kay Whitefeather, with felony child neglect.

Neighbors told media outlets they had contacted the state's Child Protective Services, but it was unclear whether CPS followed up and, if they did, what they found. That is because the state Department of Health and Human Resources refused to provide any additional information and freedom of information requests were denied.

DHHR cited WV Code 49-5-101 that states such records concerning a child or juvenile "are confidential and may not be released or disclosed to anyone, including any federal or state agency." But that is an overly broad interpretation of the statute. The requests centered on the agency's response, not the identity or disposition of the children's cases.

Now, the West Virginia House of Delegates is advancing a bill (HB 4595) that would break down that information wall. The legislation authorizes the Legislative Oversight Commission on Health and Human Resources Accountability to "conduct proceedings in a confidential executive session for the purpose of reviewing investigations and questioning a witness or witnesses.

If this bill becomes law, lawmakers could at least find out whether CPS followed up on complaints and then take appropriate corrective action. Maybe CPS investigated, but the adoptive parents successfully covered up the abuse, or maybe the complaints fell through the cracks. Who knows?

At minimum, legislators who have jurisdiction over the agency and allocate resources have a right to know. However, as the bill is written now, it still leaves the public in the dark. The bill states that investigations are exempt from public disclosure requirements.

The bill should be modified so the Oversight Commission is required to report its findings and recommend a course of action. Anything that has the potential to identify the children involved can be redacted.

CPS workers are notoriously overworked and plagued by high turnover. Public disclosure about the impact of those challenges could bring pressure on state leaders to ensure the agency is fully staffed and that field workers are well compensated for what is an exceedingly difficult job.

The information blackout in these kinds of cases only arouses suspicion, while preventing policy makers and the public from having the facts necessary to make accurate assessments about what may be agency failures.

Sunlight is the best disinfectant.

Lots to watch once I'm discharged

I HAVE SPENT NEARLY EVERY NIGHT IN THE ER for the last month and

Or perhaps I should say, the ER. As in, the one where George Clooney used to work.

You may recall back in December when, frustrated with the disappointing options offered up by my numerous streaming services, I decided to return to 1994 and start the series anew.

I am now in season 9 — no, I do not have a social life — and fully entrenched in the lives of these indefatigable, very attractive health care professionals.

As you may imagine, this obsession (or inability to switch gears in the middle of something, which is definitely my M.O.), has created a bit of a backlog on my watch list.

There are actually several shows out now, or coming soon, that I'm excited about.

But even if I could tear myself away from the Cook County General Hospital team, I won't at the this point — because the longer I wait, the more shows I'll have lined up by the time I'm done.

With six seasons plus nine episodes still to go, I should have a pretty nice stockpile by then.

Unfortunately, shows aren't the only thing stacking up for me right now. So, as much as I hate throwing lists at you all, I'm going to go ahead and share some of the programming I'm most looking forward to catching up on later.

1.) "True Detective Season 4: Night Country," Max. The first season of this series on then-HBO was awesome. The second was unwatchable. I liked the third, because I'll watch Mahershala Ali in anything, but it still didn't live up to its predecessor. Showrunners and critics assure us this latest iteration will, finally, meet that bar. Starring Jodie Foster (love) and Kali Reiss, this time the case involves eight men who have gone missing from a research station in Alaska. Going by the trailers, it's cold. It's constantly dark. The women look pained. So, you know, pretty relatable. Psyched for this one.

2.) "Expats," Amazon Prime. Nicole Kidman returns to the limited series format — one at which she excels — in this tale about a group of women living in Hong Kong, who are brought together, and torn apart, by one tragic event. I have only seen the teaser, but that event appears to be a kidnapping — though, of course, they may just want us to think that. Coming in at six episodes, which drop Thursday, it's an adaptation of Janice Y.K. Lee's bestselling novel "The Expatriates." Here's hoping Kidman's wardrobe is as impeccable as it was in "The Undoing."

3.) "Masters of the Air," Apple TV+. My dad (lover of war movies forever) told me about this upcoming series about a World War II Air Force unit known as the 100th Bomb Group. It's no wonder it's getting a lot of attention, especially from war movie buffs like my father. It boasts Steven Spielberg, Tom Hanks and Gary Goetzman as executive producers — the same team that brought us "Band of Brothers" and "The Pacific," a couple of the best takes on WWII ever brought to the screen.

It's in the cards: 2024 will test us

Tarot practitioners say the Strength card is 2024's card of the year. That's because 2+0+2+4=8, and Strength is the eighth card in most modern English-language tarot decks.

What can we learn from Strength, the tarot deck's pick of the year

BY DEBORAH NETBURN Associated Press

LOS ANGELES - Years ago. when they were feeling lost and directionless and leaning too heavily on their vices, Edgar Fabián Frías cast a spell on themself. As part of the process, the L.A. based artist, therapist practitioner magical decided they would pull a tarot card and get whatever they selected tattooed on their arm.

As luck (or the universe) would have it. Frías pulled the Strength card. Since then, they've had a line drawing of a feminine figure leaning comfortably against a large orangutan on their left bicep. "Fuerza" (Spanish for strength) is written in blue ink beneath the image. (The traditional Strength card usually depicts a lion rather than an orangutan, but in tarot, everything is open to interpretation.)

"It helped me on my healing journey, and I find the card often connects with people who are trying to recover or find themselves," Frías said. "It's like an angel or a guide that comes at just the right moment."

If you too feel like you could use some Strength energy in your life, you're in luck. Tarot practitioners say the Strength card is 2024's card of the year. That's because 2+0+2+4=8, and Strength is the eighth card in most modern English-language tarot decks. Just like honoring the seasonal rhythms of the year or the phases of the moon, working with the card of the year can be a way to frame and contextualize a specific period of time.

"When we talk about the card of the year, we can think about what energies are associated with it that can help guide or support us or potentially give us some clues into the theme of the year," said author and artist iot card year — Eliza Swann, founder of the Golden Dome School, a mystery school for artists with branches in New York and L.A., moved houses four times. (The Chariot card is traditionally associated with movement and momentum).

"I never had a more insane moving moment," Swann said. "And I thought, 'Well, it's a Chariot year.' It helped me look at this crazy movement as having a mythic framework."

For Frías, 2023's Chariot year was an invitation to contemplate the direction of their life, where they were headed and the parts of their life where they didn't feel empowered or in control. In this Strength year, they plan to think about ways to receive, call in and cultivate strength to make big changes happen. "It's about turning inward toward ourselves and opening up our hearts," Frías said. "Some call it the conscious and unconscious coming together.'

In the most popular and iconic tarot deck, known as the Rider-Waite-Smith and first published in 1910, the Strength card depicts a woman in a long white dress leaning over a lion with its tail between its legs. An infinity sign floats over her head, suggesting she might be a divine figure, and she seems to be using gentle pressure to close the lion's mouth and calm it. The lion radiates a wild energy, but it looks up at her with something like trust. The woman is serene and unafraid.

The divinatory meaning of the card is "power, energy, action, courage, and magnanimity," according to the little white book that accompanies the deck.

When the card is reversed weakness and discord." But most tarot readers say the imagery of the card suggests a more broad and expansive interpretation.

For Gottesdiener, the card is a reminder that strength is often soft and unforced and that we can look at our true natures with compassion. "There's this relationship with animal nature or animalistic instinct," she said. "She's greeting this beast, this king of the jungle, and she's not afraid of it. She's greeting it for what it is."

This could lead us to see 2024 as a year to reacquaint ourselves with desire, pleasure and play, she said. "We're going inward to meet the beast. [In 2024,] we'll be tasked with thinking about 'What are our true natures?' and 'What do they need to flourish and grow?"

Swann said the Strength card is associated with Cybele, an iron meteorite that was celebrated as a mother goddess in Anatolia (the region now called Turkey). "I think of Strength as this really beautiful, divine, feminine ecstatic energy — this wildly sizzling meteorite," Swann said. "And I think of her as the goddess of settling the score."

On the collective level, Swann sees Strength card energy in all those who are rising up to make their voices heard. "All the labor unions striking is Strength," they said. "The energy of organizing and making things more equitable is Strength."

But the card also has a shadow side, Frías said. This includes feeling overwhelmed, pessimistic, letting emotions control you, selfhatred and building walls between vourself and others.

"In 2024, we need to listen Sarah Faith Gottesdiener, who (meaning it shows up upside with our hearts and develop also leads tarot workshops. down in a spread), it means practices that help us cultivate For example, in 2023—a Char- "abuse of power, despotism, hope, eagerness, joy and pleadown in a spread), it means practices that help us cultivate sure," Frías said. "Especially when it's hard to do so."

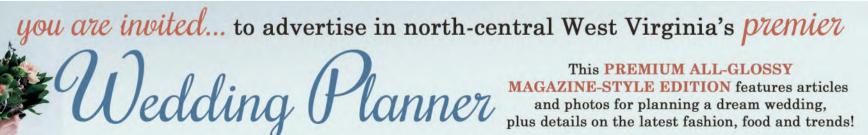

If you'd like to try working with the energy of the Strength card this year, there are lots of easy ways to start. Frías usually keeps the card of the year on their altar as a reminder to look for the various ways its themes might show up over the next 12 months. If you don't have an altar, you can make the card the picture on your phone's home screen or tape a photocopy of it on your nightstand. (An image that represents strength to you would also work.) You also can gather friends to talk about your own strengths.

"We're taught to be humble and not name our own strengths. so saving them out loud would be a good practice," Swann said.

And because Cybele's festivities occurred around the spring equinox, Swann suggests imagining planting the seeds of your desires now and watching them erupt in the spring. "On the individual level, Strength is about working with the energy of desire to achieve goals and working with your own strengths, whatever they happen to be, so you get concrete results," they said.

Perhaps, most simply, you can just meditate on what strength means to you. "You can look at where you have to be stronger, look at the divide between what you say and what you do," Gottesdiener said. "You can also be really mindful about where you, yourself, might be in the card with your relationships and your life."

The ultimate goal, she said, is to take the archetype out of the deck and bring it into your life.

Simpson-Jones-Hall

On this day, May 17, 2023, Dawn Lucy Rose Simpson-Jones, originally of Paris, France, exchanged vows with Gavin Chase Hall, originally of Morgantown, West Virginia, before family and friends in the heart of Tuscany at the 17th century Villa di Ulignano in Volterra, Italy.

The three-day event began with an evening garden party reception featuring Tuscan music, cuisine and libations, followed by a late night movie screening inside Oscar-win-Producer Franco Cristaldi's private cinema.

The formal ceremony commenced on the second day with a string quartet as family and friends settled into their seats. The groom took his place at the altar to the lyrics of "In the Air Tonight" by Phil Collins, while the bride's entrance was accompanied by the quartet playing "On the Nature of Daylight" by Max Richter. The couple was married by officiant Whitley Warbel, sister of the groom.

Following the ceremony, guests were treated to an Italian Baroque formal dinner in the villa's grand hall, a choreographed skit from the film "Moulin Rouge," reenacted by the bride and groom, and an after-party where the villa was transformed into a Miami nightclub.

Festivities concluded on the third day with an Etruscan pool party and Neapolitan pizza night as guests, dressed in all white attire, overlooked the vineyard and beautiful countryside of Tuscany, creating a La Dolce Far Niente

Dawn is the daughter of Patrick Simpson-Jones and Françoise Simpson-Jones of Miami, Florida. She is the granddaughter of paternal grandparents Marie Lucy Simpson-Jones of Paris, France, and the late Peter Simpson-Jones, as well as maternal grandparents, the late Pierrette and Charles Veyrat D'Urbet.

Sadly lost and happily found on Jekyll island A HOST OF WILD CREATURES LIVE ON JEKYLL ISLAND. Shy bobcats hide in palmetto woods; deer roam the streets. We have large alligators, turtles who have their own hospital and rehabilitation center. Snakes, both harmless and poisonous, hide in tall grass. Recently Pierre and I ran into an armadillo in the meadow on our early morning walk. The island is home to all kinds of birds. Pierre chases sand pipers and sea gulls on the beach. He cowers behind me when we see large vultures land several yards in front of us on our golf course walks. Cats, squirrels, small burrowing animals and tiny lizards all share the island with us. A couple of days ago I was working in the kitchen when I heard Pierre's loud barks. Earlier Rob had been out in the back yard with Pierre, trimming the grapefruit tree. Pierre likes to chase any grapefruit he finds on the ground if someone will toss it for him. Later that afternoon, when I heard Pierre barking Rob had finished trimming and was no longer in the back yard. I noticed our sunny afternoon had turned windy, with clouds that promised rain. Pierre panics during thunder storms, so I thought I'd better bring him inside if thunder was about to hit us.

Pierre continued to bark but there was something different about his woofing. The barks seemed to be coming from farther away than the back yard. When I looked out the wall of windows in the family room I could see Pierre was not in the fenced back vard. Going from room to room I searched the house.

No Pierre. I thought perhaps Rob was working in the shed and had taken Pierre with him. He often secures the dog on a long lead in the side yard close to the shed when he works out there. Pierre was not in the side yard and Rob was not in the shed. By now Pierre's barking had stopped. An uneasy feeling about Pierre had begun to We have a small fenced back yard with three gates. One gate leads to the car port, another leads to the next door neighbors' yard and the third leads to the large side yard and the street. This third oversized gate was put in to allow the lawn care company to bring their riding mower into the back yard. I went to check the gate leading to the car port to make sure it was locked. As I checked that gate I noticed the large back yard gate was wide open! Had the lawn workers left it unlatched? Had the wind opened it? What did it matter Pierre was gone, gone out into the wide world.

Just then I heard Pierre barking again. I ran out front and there he was, a short distance up the block. He was standing in the middle of the street, looking around and woofing every now and then. When I called him, Pierre turned, saw me and ran home full speed.

While Rob secured the back gate, I looked down at Pierre and thought how easily he could have been injured or lost. In his limited experience cars are full of people who will stop and pet him so he runs toward a coming car, rather than getting out of the way. Then there are the alligators and poisonous snakes. His curiosity is boundless. He will investigate any creature he comes across. Jekyll is beautiful but it can be dangerous. We were so glad to have our big boy safely home!

What did God do while he rested on the seventh day?

Q: What, precisely, did God do on the Seventh Day? I like to rest, too, but staring at an empty computer screen all day gets old, at least for me. I am curious. Thank you. – (From J in Cary, North Carolina)

A: God does not need to rest but God did rest.

This is one of the first great questions raised by the creation account in the first chapter of the Book of Genesis. Why would an allpowerful God need to rest on the seventh day or for that matter on any day? How is the world sustained and protected from chaos on the day of God's resting? Is one day on earth to us the same and one day of rest for God?

Rest is the first spiritual conundrum and mystery and blessing of the Bible and through Judaism, Christianity, and Islam it has become a part of Western civilization.

THE GOD SQUAD

Perhaps God wanted to teach us that working must be balanced by resting in our lives. Resting gives us time to solidify family bonds of love and time to express our gratitude to God for our blessings in prayer on the day of rest

The right to rest is grounded in another belief clearly taught in the creation account of Genesis and that is the belief that all people are made in the image of God. This belief in Imago Dei is arguably the great spiritual revolution of the biblical religions. Other ancient religions all taught that people were created to serve the gods. The Bible alone taught that a part of what makes God holy is also in us. It took two millennia and contact with Greek philosophy for Judaism and later Christianity and Islam to refine our spiritual identity into body and soul, but from the first chapter of the Bible the idea that we are holy like God was a foundation of faith.

So, if we are made in the image of God but we obviously are not God, our only viable spiritual option is to imitate God to the extent that we are able. If God rests, then we should imitate God by resting on the Sabbath day. Resting is a gift from God that reminds us we are made to reflect and represent God here on planet earth.

Resting is forbidden to slaves who must work constantly but is the prerogative of all free people made in the image of God. Implicit in the Sabbath day is a critique of slavery in all its forms. Resting on the Sabbath day is thus an assertion of freedom in a world that often crushes freedom for so many. The freedom of Sabbath rest is a foretaste of the soul's freedom in Heaven.

Resting on the Sabbath day was the first great spiritual revolution of the Bible. Through resting, the Bible establishes a sacred order of time that intersects with our secular profane world once every seven days. Once that sacred order of time is established, it can then be introduced to sanctify the holidays which transform the cycle of the seasons into a celebration of God's blessings to us in nature and in history.

An interesting element of God resting is that the Sabbath day has no marking signs in nature A day is natural. It is naturally defined by day and night over roughly 24 hours. A month is also a natural unit of time defined by the cycles of the moon over roughly 28 days, and a year is natural as the cycle of the seasons over 12 months. However, a week has no marking point whatsoever in nature. There is absolutely nothing that demarcates seven days as one week. That is why I believe that the Bible chose the seventh day as the Sabbath. It is a statement that God is not defined by nature anymore than a potter is defined by a pot he or she has made. This makes nature worship impossible in all three biblical faiths. God is the creator of nature and nature's cycles of time. Overlayed over natural time is sacred time and it begins with the Sabbath day. It continues with sacred holidays most of which sacralize not just the seasons but also events in sacred history. Passover is a sanctification of both springtime and the exodus from Egypt. Easter is a sanctification of springtime and the death and resurrection of Jesus for Christians. To emphasize God's independence from nature, Islam does not limit its sacred month of Ramadan to the same season every year.

I would love to hear ways that you and your family sanctify the Sabbath day and make God's time real in our broken world.

Foot Fun!

Have you noticed that some words are made up of 2 words put together? The meanings of the 2 words are often "added together" to mean a new thing. For example: foot + ball = football. The new words are called compound words.

Match the two bold words to the meaning of the new word they make when "added" together!

1. foot + ball (sphere used in games)

2. foot + man (male human)

3. foot + note (short message)

4. foot + wear (clothing)

5. foot + stool (seat with no back)

6. foot + hold (to have in hand)

7. foot + board (flat piece of wood) 8. foot + hill (sloped area)

9. foot + bridge (built structure)

10. foot + path (walkway)

A. structure only wide enough for a person to cross B. opposite of the headboard, found at the bottom of bed

C. place to rest or start on a rock climb

D. narrow trail for hikers

E. sneakers, boots, sandals and high-heeled shoes F. popular sport that is played on the gridiron or field G. small hill at the base of a larger mountain H. servant who waits on tables or opens doors I. note at the bottom of page that helps explain the text J. place to rest your feet at the end of a long day

An option for low home inventory

HOME INVENTORY HAS BEEN A PROBLEM SINCE COVID AND FOR THE MOST PART, IT'S BEEN NATIONWIDE. Yes, low interest rates benefited buyers, but as I wrote in a previous column, the fear of COVID led to a lack of homes

As time went on, the competition among buyers intensified, and although sellers were in such a strong position to make more money on a sale, they were afraid of then becoming buyers themselves. This led to a continued period of home inventory shortage.

Here in West Virginia, particularly in the rural areas, there also isn't enough new construction. Sure, the Mountain State does have some in places such as Morgantown, Bridgeport, Teays Valley outside of Charleston and Huntington and a couple of other locales, but in general, our state doesn't have many home builders working on developments. Soon, more homes will be needed even in those rural areas given all the new manufacturing the governor and his team are bringing to the state. Even here in Morgantown, we need more.

Having said that, there is another option. Renovation loans will fund not only the purchase price of a home, but also improvement projects. Not all lenders offer these, so you'll need to talk to your Realtor for recommendations.

These types of loans not only enable buyers to purchase, but they improve communities by upgrading older homes that need attention. If you drive around portions of our city, you know we have many older homes that have seen better days.

Probably the most well-known renovation loan is the "FHA 203K," but there are numerous loans backed by the Federal Housing Administration (FHA), the Veterans Administration (VA), the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) and possibly a few other entities.

Here's a brief overview: A buyer prequalifies through one of these loan programs. After the buyer and the Realtor get a property under contract, a licensed and insured contractor comes in to provide estimates on projects. Let's say the purchase price is $250,000, but if the buyer qualifies for an additional $50,000, they can use this amount with the contractor.

After the estimates are submitted, the transaction proceeds. One difference is when it's time for the appraisal, the appraised value incorporates the pending improvements. After the deal is closed, the lender will, in most cases, provide a "Draw" (funds for the contractor to purchase materials) and then work begins. The lender will give the contractor a specific amount of time in which to complete the work. It could be 60-90 days or more if it's a large renovation. Once all the work is completed, the lender will send someone to inspect the work to ensure it's been completed to satisfaction. The contractor is then paid the balance owed.

One drawback in our area is not having enough licensed contractors. This is a piece that neither the lender nor Realtor can control, but if you secure a contractor and a renovation loan, it's a fantastic way to purchase a property and to help to revitalize a neighborhood.

At CES 2024, tech companies are transforming the kitchen with AI and robots that do the cooking

ances and other high-tech kitchen gadgets are holding out the promise that humans don't need to cook — or mix drinks — for themselves anymore.

There was plenty new in the food and beverage world at CES 2024, the multi-day trade event put on by the Consumer Technology Association. Displays included cocktail-mixing and ice creammaking machines akin to a Keurig, and a robot barista whose movements are meant to mimic a human making a vanilla latte.

Here's some of the newest tech that's transforming the way meals are prepped, cooked and delivered:

GE Appliances is looking to change the way you smoke food with its new $1,000 indoor smoker.

Around the size of a toaster oven or microwave, the GE Profile Smart Indoor Smoker can fit a full brisket cut in half, 40 chicken wings or three racks of ribs. It still uses wood pellets to achieve a smokey flavor, but its technology traps the smoke inside, making it

"perfect for people who live in urban environments," like high-rise apartments, said Whitney Welch, a spokesperson for GE Appliances.

Using generative AI technology, Brisk It's new smart grill, the NeoSear, aims to make the art of barbecuing foolproof.

You can ask the grill all kinds of questions to create the perfect recipe: What seasoning should I add to make my chicken skewers spicy? How do I sear a medium-rare

Once you've nailed down a recipe and prepped the food, Brisk It's InnoGrill AI 2.0 technology will command the grill to cook it. 'It's everyone's smart grill,' said CEO Christopher Huang. "It doesn't matter if you're a skilled enthusiast, if you're busy, young or old.'

The grill is not yet available but will cost around $2,000, Huang said.

Freezing your own ice cream at home takes hours, but with tech startup ColdSnap's noclean ice cream machine, your frozen treat is ready in two minutes.

Think of it as a Keurig for ice cream: Choose from flavors like salted caramel and coffee, then put the pod in the machine and it will dispense your cold treat in minutes after scanning the pod's QR code.

ColdSnap can also whip up frozen lattes, boozy ice cream treats and protein shakes.

Tech startup Chef AI is unveiling what it calls a "real one-touch" air fryer.

Unlike the air fryer you might have on your kitchen counter right now, Chef AI's iteration of the popular appliance doesn't require any tinkering with settings. Just place the food in the air fryer, press Start, and it uses artificial intelligence to detect what type of food it is cooking, says the company's CEO, Dean Khormaei.

He said the air fryer would turn even the worst cooks into Chef AI will be available in the U.S. in September for $250.

What's the secret to a perfect dirty martini? Don't worry about it — Bartesian's cocktail-mixing appliance takes the guesswork out of bartending.

Bartesian's latest iteration, the Premier, can hold up to four different types of spirits. It retails for $369 and will be available later this year.

Use a small touch screen on the appliance to pick from 60 recipes, drop a cocktail capsule into the machine, and in seconds you have a premium cocktail over ice.

If you fancy a homemade beer instead, iGulu's new automated brewing machine lets vou make vour own beer — a pale ale, an amber lager or a wheat beer. Just pour a premixed recipe into the machine's keg, add water and scan the sticker that comes with the beer mix. In nine to 13 days, you'll have a gallon of DIY beer.

Artly Coffee's barista bot mimics the way a human behind the counter of your favorite coffee shop might prepare your usual order.

"What we're really trying to do is preserve the craft of fine coffee," said Alec Roig, a hardware developer for the Seattlebased tech startup that now is operating at 10 locations across the Pacific Northwest and in New York City.

Roig said the company's resident barista, who is behind all of Artly's coffee recipes, was hooked up with motion sensors that recorded his movements as he prepared each recipe, from packing the coffee grounds into the filter to frothing the milk and pouring latte art.

Elaborate decorations on antique furniture are nothing new inexpensive old furniture and paint, decorate or otherwise alter it into something new. Some people may see this as disrespectful to history, but it's a practice that has been going on for hundreds of years. After all, access to mass-produced "fast furniture" is a recent development; historically, everyday items like furniture and clothing were made to last, handed down for generations and altered to suit changing fashions.

Furniture of the Victorian era (about 1830-1900) came in many styles, all of which were elaborately decorated. Sometimes, earlier furniture in simpler styles like Queen Anne or Chippendale was re-carved or had veneers or inlay added to fit newer, fancier fashions. More recently, the reverse has become more common: paint is stripped off or carvings are planed away to suit more modern, simpler tastes.

This secretaire cabinet, which sold at a Bonhams auction in London, is an excellent example of the earlier trend of making furniture more elaborate. It was made around 1830, during the reign of William IV, but the auction catalog's description included a salesroom notice saying, "the japanned decoration ... is evidently of a later date." Japanning is a type of painted finish that imitates the lacquer used by artisans in China and Japan. It was often used with gilt and colorful decorations, as shown here. The added decorations may have contributed to the cabinet's appeal; it sold for 7,650 pounds, or about $9,274.

Q: I bought an original painting, oil on board by artist W.N. McLane (William McLane, born Massachusetts in 1951). It is signed with two XX's. Would you know why?

A: William (Bill) McLane is a contemporary artist known for his landscapes and still life paintings in oil on canvas. His usually paintings are signed "W.N. McLane." Are the X's in place of the signature, or in addition to it? "XX" is the Roman numeral for 20, so it is possible that they are meant as a date (20th century) or a number (e.g., the painting may be the 20th in a series). "X" can also stand for a kiss in informal communication, so it may have been a personalized message for the painting's recipient. An art museum or gallery in your area may be able to help you find more information.

Q: I am in possession of various original Buster Brown memorabilia which I would like to auction or sell. Was wondering if you can put me in touch with someone who might be interested in either.

A: Buster Brown and his dog, Tige, were created by cartoonist Richard Felton Outcault in 1902. Outcault licensed his characters for advertising and sold the rights to over 50 companies. Today, Buster Brown is known as an advertising mascot more so than a comic strip character. Memorabilia is popular enough to have its own section in Kovels' Price Guide. Our 2023 Price Book lists Buster Brown memorabilia with values from $63 (a Good Luck horseshoe bank) to $3,328 (a pin advertising Buster Brown Bread with a picture of Ty Cobb as well as Buster and Tige). You may want to contact the Antique Advertising Association of America (www.pastimes.org), national club for collectors.

There are many auctions that specialize in antique advertising, pop culture, toys and other relevant areas. Some also provide appraisal services. Look into Antique Advertising (www.antiqueadvertisness-directory).

A: A working clock always sells, whether it's to a homeowner looking for something practical to furnish a room or to a collector willing to pay a high price for a rare piece. Find out as much as you can about your clock: its style, maker, material, approximate age, condition, etc. Look closely at the dial, including the edge, and at the backplate of the movement. A maker's name or mark, patent date or serial number are helpful details. There are many books about identifying antique clocks; look for them at your library. Once you have identifying information, check price guides like Kovel's or look at antique stores and shows or online auction results to for. Clocks sell at most antique and estate auctions. If there is a clock repair service in your area, they may be able to help you. You may also want to contact the National Association of Watch & Clock Collectors (www.nawcc.org) for more information.

TIP: Never wash lacquered wood. Just wipe it clean with a damp cloth. Water could seep into the base wood and cause damage.

2023 was slowest year for home sales in nearly 30 years as high mortgage rates frustrated buyers

Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — Sales of previously occupied U.S. homes sank in 2023 to a nearly 30-year low, as sharply higher mortgage rates, rising prices and a persistently low level of homes on the market combined to push homeownership out of reach for many Americans.

The National Association of Realtors said Friday that existing U.S. home sales totaled 4.09 million last year, an 18.7% decline from 2022. That is the weakest year for home sales since 1995 and the biggest annual decline since 2007, the start of the housing slump of the late 2000s.

The median national home price for all of last year edged up just under 1% to record high $389,800, the NAR said.

Last year's home sales slump echoes the nearly 18% annual decline in 2022, when mortgage rates began rising, eventually more than doubling by the end of the year. That trend continued in 2023, driving the average rate on a 30-year mortgage by late October to 7.79%, the highest level since late 2000.

The sharply higher home loan borrowing costs limited home hunters' buying power on top of years of soaring prices. A dearth of homes for sale also kept many would-be homebuyers and sellers on the sidelines.

Still, a pullback in mortgage rates since late last year, and forecasts calling for a further rate declines this year, is fueling hopes that home sales will begin to bounce back from their dismal showing in 2023.

"The latest month's sales look to be the bottom before inevitably turning higher in the new year," Lawrence Yun, the NAR's chief economist. "Mortgage rates are meaningfully lower compared to just two months ago, and more inventory is expected to appear on the market in upcoming months."

Mortgage rates have been mostly easing since November, echoing a pullback in the 10-year Treasury yield, which lenders use as a guide to pricing loans. The yield has largely come down on hopes that inflation has cooled enough for the Federal Reserve to shift to cutting interest rates this year.

The average rate on a 30-year home loan was 6.6% this week, according to mortgage buyer Freddie Mac. If rates continue to ease, as many economists expect, that should help boost demand heading into the spring homebuying season, which traditionally begins in late February.

Still, the average rate remains sharply higher than just two years ago, when it was 3.56%. That large gap between rates now and then has helped limit the number of previously occupied homes on the market by discouraging homeowners locked in rock-bottom rates from sell-

"Prospective homebuyers have been shut out of the market by a lack of inventory," said Lisa Sturtevant, chief economist at Bright MLS. "If there had been more listings on the market in 2023, we would have had more home sales."

At the end of December, there were just 1 million homes on the market, the NAR said. While that's a 4.2% increase from a year earlier, the number of available homes remains well below the monthly historical average of about 2.25 million.

The available inventory at the end of last month amounts to a 3.2-month supply, going by the current sales pace. That's down 3.5% from the previous month, but up from 2.9% from December 2022. In a more balanced market between buyers and sellers, there is a 4- to 6-month supply.

That means homebuyers are likely to face intense competition for the relatively few homes on the market, which should keep pushing up prices.

"There will still be a demand-supply imbalance in the housing market well into 2024," Sturtevant said.

Despite easing mortgage rates, home sales in December declined after rising the previous month. Existing home sales fell 1% from November to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 3.78 million, the slowest sales pace since August 2010, the NAR

Sales fell 6.2% from a year earlier. Last month's sales pace is short of the roughly 3.83 million that economists were expecting, according to Fact-Set.

Home prices rose for the sixth straight month in December. The national median home sales price rose 4.4% from a year earlier to $382,600, the NAR said.

Real estate Q&A: Can sellers swap out high-end appliances before closing?

BY GARY M. SINGER

South Florida Sun Sentinel (TNS)

Q: We found a great townhome to purchase at an affordable price. It has a great location and is freshly renovated with designer appliances. A problem came up when we did the preclosing walk-through. All of the high-end appliances were replaced with basic models. When we asked about it, they explained that the expensive ones were just for showings. Can they do this? — Margie

A: Probably not. Carefully review your purchase contract to see if this situation was explicitly agreed to. If you agreed to this switch-out in the agreement, you will be stuck with it. However, if you did not agree to this in the contract, the seller must include the appliances that were in place when the contract was signed. This may mean that you need to delay the closing under the appliances are put back in or a monetary credit at closing is agreed to.

This is a good reminder of the importance of thoroughly reading and understanding all agreements before signing them. Details are important, especially in contracts.

Most standard housing contracts include language regarding appliances and fixtures that are included or expressly excluded when buying a new home.

Casino operators are rolling the dice on Dallas-Fort Worth real estate

BY STEVE BROWN

The Dallas Morning News (TNS)

Casino gambling might be illegal in Texas, but several large gaming companies are placing long-term bets on a potential future jackpot.

The Las Vegas Sands Corp.'s recent Dallas-area real estate purchases aren't the only Texas investments by gambling interests.

Texas is the land of opportunity," said longtime property market consultant Jeanette Rice. "We have 30 million residents and many certainly would be interested in having casinos closer than a drive to Oklahoma. If the regulatory doors are open to such moves, I imagine that many gaming groups would be salivating at the opportunity to expand into Texas."

Some already are. Fort Worth-based resort and spa operator Canyon Ranch last year teamed up with VICI Properties, the New York-based entertainment company that owns Caesars Palace in Las Vegas and other casino and entertainment properties. They formed a long-term partnership to expand the Canyon Ranch brand over the next decade. VICI ponied up $200 million for a new Canyon Ranch development in Texas' Hill Country.

"With our explosive population growth and demand entertainment and leisure experiences, gaming is knocking at our door," said John Goff, owner of Canyon Ranch and chairman of Fort Worth-based Crescent Real Estate. "These companies have a wealth of capital and expertise that offer much more than just gaming.

"Our state's infrastructure and educational systems could be the focus of the significant revenue streams that result," Goff said. "This potential should and will weigh heavily on legislative action."

The recent huge investments in the Dallas area by the owners of the Las Vegas Sands Corp., one of the world's largest casino operators, spotlights the gaming industry's interest in North Texas.

Adelson The and Dumont families who control Sands Corp. paid more than $3.8 billion in December to acquire majority ownership of the Dallas Mavericks basketball team from longtime owner Mark Cuban. He's advocated for a destination-style resort in Dallas for several years and describes the new majority owners as real estate people who could make it happen.

In addition to acquiring a 73% stake in the NBA franchise, the Sands owners also bought a more than 12-acre potential property development site on Stemmons Freeway just west of Victory Park in Dallas' Design District.

Before that, Sands Corp. last summer quietly purchased a more than 200-acre development site on Carpenter Freeway in Irving. The vacant property is across the highway from the former site of Texas Stadium and is in an area Irving has earmarked for high-density, mixed-use development.

"There certainly could be additional purchases in the future," a Sands spokesman said after the two North Texas property buys.

Two of the country's most successful casino operators already have their flags firmly planted in Dallas-Fort Worth. They also operate the two Oklahoma casinos most frequented by North Texans.

Since 2021, Oklahomabased Choctaw Casinos and Resorts has had its brand front-and-center in North Texas through naming rights to Arlington's former Globe Life Park stadium. The previous home of the Texas Rangers near Interstate 30 hosts entertainment and professional, college and high school sports events. In 2022, Choctaw signed a presenting sponsorship deal with Invited's Celebrity Classic golf tournament to be played this year at Las Colinas Country Club.

Choctaw Casinos and Resorts is owned by the Choctaw Nation of Oklahoma, which operates casinos throughout its home state, including its flagship in Durant that's about 90 miles north of downtown Dallas. Almost 80% of Choctaw's casino customers travel from Texas.

The tribe is currently building a new hotel and casino near Broken Bow, Okla. - a getaway destination popular with Dallasites. And Choctaw's hospitality arm last summer acquired a development site in Las Colinas on Carpenter Freeway.

Another casino operator the Chickasaw Nation of Oklahoma - has owned Lone Star Park horse racetrack in Grand Prairie since 2011.

The Chickasaw operate the sprawling Winstar World Casino and Resort on Interstate 35 just over the Texas-Oklahoma border and last fall opened Lucas Oil Live, a 240,000-squarefoot, 6,500-seat entertainment venue that attracts a star-studded lineup entertainers.

Winstar formed unique partnership with the Dallas Cowboys in 2018, becoming the official casino of the team. It was a first for an NFL club.

The Cordish Companies, which in partnership with the Texas Rangers is building the $1 billion Texas Live! mixed-use development in Arlington, recently broke ground on a new casino and hotel across the Texas border in Bossier City, La.

Casino & Hotel Louisiana is projected to generate more than $168 million in gaming tax revenues for that state within the first five years it's open.

"With the first landbased casino in the market. Live! Casino will be a transformative development that will bring a first-class gaming and entertainment experience to millions of visitors, create significant new jobs, and generate millions of dollars in economic benefits for the community for generations to come,' Jon Cordish, principal of The Cordish Companies, said in a statement.

The 550-room hotel and 47,000-square-foot casino are scheduled to open in

In Arlington, Cordish is building a 229-unit luxury rental community in its Texas Live! development, which opened in 2018.

With 8 million residents, Dallas-Fort Worth represents one of the country's largest target markets for casino firms. Texans spend roughly $5 billion a year in adjacent states and Las Vegas, according to one estimate.

Return-tooffice could push moms out of the workplace

Star Tribune (TNS)

For most of her career, Felicia Krick worked from the office every day, sometimes logging 80 hours a week as a public accountant.

Then the pandemic hit, the world shut down, and she caught a glimpse of a different life.

"Remote work, for me, really became a saving grace where I could continue to go after my career goals, but I could also be a little bit more present with my family," the 36-year-old mother of four said. "And so just the rumblings of, 'Hey, we're going back to the office, and it's going to be on average three days a week,' that was very anxiety-provoking because I'd really gotten used to this kind of new normal.'

After leaving jobs in droves at the start of the COVID-19 pandemic, women in their prime working years, especially those with young children, have led the post-pandemic labor market recovery. But as companies begin calling workers back to the office — and child care options dwindle — experts expect many women will exit the workforce again.

"What we know is that lack of support, and in particular lack of support for caregivers, does push people out of the workforce," said Gaylynn Burroughs, director of workplace equality at the National Women's Law Center.

Women shouldered the pandemic's economic toll, working jobs companies were more likely to eliminate and often assuming caretaking responsibilities. More than 2 million women left the U.S. workforce in 2020, setting their participation back a generation.

At the same time, the pandemic normalized flexibility in many workplaces, and U.S. women have returned to jobs in record numbers: In 2023, the labor force participation rate of prime-age women between ages 25 and 54 reached an all-time high of more than 77%.

For November 2023, the most-recently available data from the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, prime-age women's labor force participation was nearly 87% in Minnesota, according to analysis from Lauren Bauer, an economic studies fellow and associate director of the Hamilton Project at Brookings.

"The pandemic made remote work so much more possible, that it really showed the potential and the promise for more family oriented policies that allow people to balance caregiving and work," said Kristine West, an associate economics professor at St. Catherine University.

Even as employers bring workers back to the office, many are still allowing for remote work.

Target Corp. is asking employees to work from its Minneapolis downtown headquarters at least one week a quarter. Ryan Cos. wants its employees in the office or at a construction job site three days a week, but there's flexibility in which days and how many, said Keisha Duck, chief human resources officer. Starkey Hearing Technologies is requiring four days a week at its Eden Prairie campus, plus one flexible day when employees can work from home.

Jessica Perez, Starkey's chief people officer and executive vice president of culture, said she works with her team members if they need to shift their schedule to, for example, pick up their kids during the work day. The company has also tried to make inoffice days more attractive, including undergoing a remodel that added and upgraded mothers' rooms.

'We need to do what's right for the organization, but we need to do what's right for each other," Perez said.

How to pay down debt, stick to a budget, and accomplish your other finance resolutions in 2024

The Philadelphia Inquirer (TNS)

More than a third of U.S. adults are setting financial resolutions in 2024, according to a recent Forbes survey. Improving finances was the secondmost popular goal after improving fitness, according to the late October poll of 1,000 people nationwide. It was cited more often than improving mental health, losing weight, and improving diet.

If you're among those setting finance-related goals — whether it's to pay down debt or finally create a budget — here are some helpful tips from experts, gathered during a year of consumer report-

Resolution: Make and stick to a budget

Opt out of apps: Financial experts advocate for an old-fashioned strategy: Pen and paper. A spreadsheet on your computer works, too. They have found people are more likely to stick to a budget long-term this way. Some Philly-area Gen Zers can attest, and told The Inquirer, that manual budgeting has made them more aware of their spending habits.

Audit yourself: Regardless of how you make your budget, make sure you are checking your bank accounts regularly enough that you know how much money you have and how much month.

Identify problem areas: Be honest as you check your accounts about areas where you are more likely to overspend, be it on meals out or online shopping, and set your budget accordingly.

— Monitor subscriptions: Make a list of all the subscriptions that you have on auto-pay. Cancel ones you rarely use.

— Give yourself grace: If you go over your budget, don't throw in the towel. Take it as a learning experience and create a plan for how you can meet your goal next month.

Resolution: Spend less on your energy bills — Bundle up: Keeping your thermostat even one degree colder in the winter — or one degree warmer in the summer can save you more than 4% on your monthly bill.

 Make investments up front: If you're in a home you plan to live in for awhile, it may be worthwhile to spend money now on upgrades, be it something relatively small like as a smart thermostat ($60 to $300) or something larger like a heat pump water heater ($1,500 or more). They'll save you money in the long run.

 Unplug appliances and electronics: If something is plugged in and doesn't have an on-off switch, it is using energy when you're not using it.

— Close up windows you're spending each and doors: Make sure your doors and windows are properly closed and locked. Install storm windows and doors. Buy a tube of caulk for $4 and insulate around all win-

 Look into energy audits: You could be eligible for a free or low-cost energy assessment, during which a professional can walk through your home and point out more specific ways you can save.

Resolution: Pay off credit card debt

 Stop using your credit card: Switch to a debit card for day-to-day purchases as you work to dig out of debt. Negotiate a lower interest rate: First, find out what your current interest rate is. Then call your credit card company and ask for a lower rate. In 2022, 70% of people who asked for a lower rate got one, according to a LendingTree survey.

- Consider a 0% interest balance transfer card: Transferring your debt to a 0% interest credit card can be especially helpful if you incurred an unexpected, one-time expense. "It gives you time to almost put yourself on a payment plan," Sara Rathner, a credit card expert at NerdWallet, told The Inquirer.

Look into a personal loan:Consolidating your debt into a personal loan is a good option for those with lower credit. These loans typically come with a fixed interest rate, meaning they won't change over time, and will break up your debt into equal monthly payments.

- Keep some cash in savings: Try to strike a balance between keeping some money in savings and paying down debt. That way you won't be forced to put unexpected expenses on your credit card and continue the cycle of debt.

Resolution: Spend less next holiday season

— Start saving early: Figure out how much you'd like to spend on holiday gifts and other expenses in advance, and then set a savings goal each month or each pay check. That way you have money set aside when the holidays come around.

- Stack rewards and points: Hold onto those store rewards or creditcard points throughout the year, then put them toward your holiday purchases.

- Keep a running list of gift ideas: Listen all year for things your loved ones say that they could use, but that they probably won't buy for themselves.

 Look for sales on those items all year: You don't have to wait until Black Friday to find deals. Sales occur around summer holidays, too, and if you have gift ideas in mind, you can keep an eye out for discounts on those

"Stuff" just doesn't do it

Most families have money problems at some point. When I was a little kid, our family went through tough financial times just like everyone else. A job layoff can take your breath away. An illness can leave you completely broke. Little kids in the house may not know exactly what's going on, but there's stress in the air. They're told, "Times are tough, so we can't go on vacation this year," or "We have to move," or "Christmas is going to be slim.'

My parents were in the real estate business and were building homes. Then, the economy went sideways and left them in a mess. They worked hard, but it didn't matter. Outside forces brought trouble to our house. We never went without food, shelter, or anything else, but the air changed in our home. I always thought money would solve the problem, so I vowed that one day I would become a millionaire. I doubt I even knew what that meant, but in my head, I thought it meant money would never be a problem.

Believe it or not, I'm a spender by nature. I've always enjoyed spending money. Of course, when I was young and immature, that idea of spending for fun led me into the trap of thinking if I got enough Stuff, I would be happy. I would've never admitted it out loud, but there was also the stupid idea deep down that if I got enough Stuff, I would be happy and safe, or if I got the right Stuff, people would be impressed.

With that driving force, I went about the business of earning piles of money so I could spend piles of money. But a funny thing happened. The Stuff became \dots unsatisfying. There was never completion or peace after a purchase, only the need to buy more.

Stuff just doesn't do it.

By the time I was 26, I was a millionaire making $250,000 a year. Not long after that, due to some really dumb business decisions, I went broke and lost everything. That was 30 vears ago.

I also met God during this time, who did bring me peace and completion. I finally realized I was pouring Stuff down a spiritual hole, and Stuff is not designed to fill that hole. No matter how many cars I bought, or fancy dinners I ate, or cool places I traveled to, there was always something still missing.

During the following decades, we slowly began re-building wealth . . . this time while always giving. In the process, we discovered there's much more joy in giving than in Stuff. If you haven't experienced the joy of giving, there's no better time to start than

GET THE JOB

Experience as an Asset

Age discrimination remains a pervasive issue, affecting older job seekers who find themselves facing unfair stereotypes and biases.

With strategic approaches, however, older professionals can navigate the job application process effectively and position their experience as a valuable asset. More than 1 in 4 Americans in the workplace are aged 55 or older, yet there is ample evidence they are facing an increasingly difficult time finding work. According to an AARP analysis of BLS data and surveys they have taken in 2023, workers over the age of 50 are unemployed for three times as long as their younger counterparts and have to send out a larger volume of applications

More than 40% of workers over the age of 40 say they've experienced age discrimination at work during the past three years. A Zip Recruiter survey found employers saying they search out younger talent with 47% saying they're worried about their older workers' tech skills and 25% saying they'd pick a 30-year-old over a 60-year-old if both candidates were equally qualified.

Stereotypes that older individuals may lack technological proficiency, adaptability or energy persist, despite the wealth of experience and expertise they bring to the table. Overcoming these biases requires a combination of self-awareness and proactive strategies.

HIGHLIGHTING RELEVANT EXPERIENCE

One effective strategy is to focus on relevant experience. Tailor your resume and cover letter to highlight accomplishments and skills that directly align with the job requirements. Emphasize specif ic instances where your experience has had a positive effect, showcasing your ability to contribute meaningfully to the prospective employer's goals.

Addressing concerns about adaptability and a willingness to learn is crucial. Clearly communicate any recent training, certifications or professional development activities that showcase your commitment to staying current in your field. This not only dispels stereotypes but also reinforces your dedication to ongoing personal and professional

PERSONAL BRANDING

Leverage the power of networking to expand your professional connections. Attend industry events, join relevant online forums and engage with professionals in your field. Establishing a robust online presence through platforms like LinkedIn can help showcase your expertise and demonstrate that you are an active and engaged professional.

Demonstrate your proficiency in current technologies and tools by incorporating relevant keywords in your resume and LinkedIn profile. Highlight any experience with recent software, platforms or industry trends. This not only counters assumptions about technological competence but also positions you as a candidate who can contribute to innovation.

RESUME FORMATTING Crafting a resume that is age-neutral can help shift the focus away from your timeline. Exclude unnecessary details such as graduation dates or experiences from several decades ago. Instead, emphasize recent and relevant achieve ments. A well-organized and visually appealing resume will draw attention to your skills and accomplishments rather than your age.

Highlight your soft skills. Communication, leadership and problem-solving abilities are timeless and valued by employers across generations. Provide concrete examples of how these skills have positively affected your previous workplaces, reinforcing the notion that experience has honed your interpersonal and leadership capabilities.

INTERVIEWING

During interviews, address age-related concerns proactively. Communicate your enthusiasm for the role, your abil ity to collaborate with diverse teams and your track record of achieving results. Emphasize how your experience brings a unique perspective and depth of knowledge that can benefit the organization.

Research and target organizations that prioritize diversity and inclusion. Some employers actively seek experienced professionals, recognizing the value they bring to the workplace. Look for companies with age-inclusive policies and cultures that appreciate the benefits of a multigenerational workforce.

Some things that could impact your credit in 2024

NerdWallet

Credit is top of mind for many folks going into 2024. Nearly 4 in 5 Americans (79%) say they are trying to improve their credit, according to a recent survey from NerdWallet.

Getting ahead of surprises will go a long way in protecting your credit. Here are four things to look out for that could impact your credit in the new year.

HOLIDAY DEBT

Holiday purchases could follow you for months. NerdWallet's 2023 Holiday Shopping Report found that about half of Americans (52%) incurred credit card debt when shopping last holiday season, and of them, 31% still have not paid off their bal-

Payment history is the biggest factor influencing your credit scores. If you're carrying debt, make at least the minimum payments on your cards to keep your payment history intact and shield your scores. But paying a higher amount, if you're able to, is better for your credit utilization another major factor in score calculations. Using too much of available credit can make you appear risky to lenders. Paying balances in full will keep your credit usage low and spare you interest charges.

CREDIT CARD DELINQUENCIES

Debt is surging outside of holiday spending, too. Debt balances of all types grew by $228 billion in the third quarter of 2023, according to a report from the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. The New York Fed also found that credit card delinquencies have risen above pre-pandemic levels, particularly among millennials.

Many experts expect this trend to continue in 2024. "We're likely to see people start running out of room with their available credit and encountering more difficulty affordably repaying the debt that they owe," says Bruce McClary, senior vice president of membership and communications at the National Foundation for Credit Counseling. "We're dealing with shrinking savings and increasing debt. And that's never a good recipe."

If your credit card account becomes delinquent, usually when it's 30 days or more past due, pay the bill as soon as possible. The later a payment gets, the more damage it does.

Negative marks may hinder your ability to open new lines of credit or secure desirable interest rates.

Try calling your card issuer or writing a goodwill letter to ask if it will STUDENT LOANS remove the missed payment from your reports.

Federal student loans started accruing interest again in September 2023, and payments resumed in October. Making payments after a three-and-a-halfyear-long pause has put pressure on borrowers finances. The Education Department established a 12month "on-ramp" period to help those who might be struggling with student loan bills protect their credit. During this period which lasts through Sept. 30, 2024 — missed payments won't be considered delinquent, go into default or be reported to credit bureaus and debt collection agencies.

Still, skipping payments is risky. Interest will keep accruing and vour balance will rise. Having a swollen balance after the grace period along with other financial obligations could become too much to manage.

As the years roll on, things change.
We begin to develop more wrinkles and aches, new technologies emerge, our priorities change and, inevitably, the world keeps turning. Through all of the ups and downs, changes and adaptations, one thing seems pretty solid: humanity's interest in the art and devastation of war. This interest may be reflected in the hobbies of Civil War reenactors, one's choice of literature or, as it turns out, one's choice of televised entertainment.

Luckily for the World War II enthusiasts out there, Apple TV+ releases a new series Friday, Jan. 26. Based on author and historian Donald L. Miller's book, "Masters of the Air: America's Bomber Boys Who Fought the Air War Against Nazi Germany," the series, titled simply "Masters of the Air," follows the 100th Bomb Group, an American airborne unit that helped defeat the Nazis during World War II. Nine action-packed episodes are to be released weekly until the March 15 finale, with the first two dropping on the streamer Jan. 26.

Billed as — as British GQ writer Jack King wrote in his Nov. 9 article — the "spiritual sequel to 'Band of Brothers,'" "Masters of the Air" is made possible by the HBO series' producers Steven Spielberg, Tom Hanks and Gary Goetzman, all of whom also collaborated behind the scenes on the 2010 miniseries "The Pacific." While not a direct seguel to either HBO miniseries, "Masters of the Air" promises to take viewers away from a literal boots-onthe-ground look at the war machine and instead takes to the equally treacherous skies.

While GQ's King also referred to the series as "peak Dad TV," one mustn't be a father to enjoy "Masters of the Air." Further to that end, there are plenty of recognizable faces for viewers to watch in awe, including "The Banshees of Inisherin" (2022) actor Barry Keoghan, who also starred in the popular 2017 war epic "Dunkirk"; "War and Peace" star Callum Turner; and the King of Rock 'n' Roll himself, Austin Butler ("Elvis," 2022).

Also starring in all nine episodes of the series are Ben Radcliffe ("Anatomy of a Scandal"), Anthony Boyle ("Tetris," 2023), Rafferty Law ("Repo Men," 2010), David Shields ("The Crown"), Darragh Cowley ("The Essex Serpent"), Edward Ashley ("The Terror"), Elliot Warren ("The Batman," 2022) and Nate Mann ("Licorice Pizza," 2021).

BBC's newest Time Lord, "Doctor Who's" Ncuti Gatwa, also makes an appearance as 2nd Lt. Robert H. Daniels, while Sawyer Spielberg ("Honeydew," 2020), son of the famous director, Steven Spielberg, and American painter and actress Kate Capshaw ("Indiana Jones and the Temple of Doom," 1984), also appears in the series as Lt.

Roy Frank Claytor.

Adapted from Miller's novel by "Band of Brothers" and "The Last Vermeer" (2019) screenwriter John Orloff, "Master of the Air" flies viewers back in time to Europe during the Second World War, a time when the 8th Air Force's 100th Bomb Group become known by its nickname, "The Bloody Hundredth." And like most war films and series, the excitement and patriotism are featured alongside a healthy dose of grounded reflection and plenty of unthinkable devastation.

Per the official Apple TV+ description, the series takes a pilot's-seat approach to the carnage as the men conduct perilous bombing raids over Nazi Germany and grapple with the frigid conditions, lack of oxygen and sheer terror of combat conducted at 25,000 feet in the air."

Hunter Dickinson and Jayhawks get set to battle Cyclones

By Roberto Jozef

TV Media

Another NCAA Big 12 match-up hits the court as the Kansas Jayhawks get set to take on the hungry Iowa State Cyclones, Saturday, Jan 27. Meeting the Cyclones at home, the game airs live on CBS from the James H. Hilton Coliseum in Ames, Iowa.

Entering the 2023-24 season, the Kansas Javhawks are one of the favorites entering the year as a No. 2 seed in the NCAA.

Beginning this year on a five-game win streak, their success this season has been exceptional (9-1 as of Dec. 15), and with the major acquisition of a fourth-year transfer from Michigan State, Hunter Dickinson, a projected second-round pick in the 2024 NBA Draft, the Jayhawks are looking to win it all.

Coming off his previous three seasons with Michigan, Dickinson is a presence at center, having averaged 18.5 points per game, 9.0 rebounds per game and 1.8 blocks per game last season.

With the Jayhawks kicking off the season on fire, Dickinson hasn't skipped a beat, improving in just about every area of his game. averaging 19.4 points per game while shooting for 63.7% from field goal range. On the defensive side, he's been a handful for teams in the paint, averaging 12.6 rebounds per game and an improved average of 2.4 blocks per game, proving to his team and himself he made the right off-season move.

Having shown right out the gates to be a star player for the Jayhawks and solidifying his position in collegiate basketball, his dominance at the center position is exactly what the Jayhawks need as they continue their chase for another Big 12 championship and national championship.

Don't miss any of the action as the Kansas Javhawks get set to face an equally motivated Iowa State Cyclones squad, Saturday, Jan. 27, airing live on CBS.

'Superhot' searches for world's hottest pepper

By Caroline Collacutt

TV Media

From director Brian Skope ("Ranch to Table," 2021), "Superhot: The Spicy World of Pepper People" premieres Monday, Jan. 22. on Hulu.

This limited, 10-episode docuseries brings the heat, narrated by funnyman Ben Schwartz ("Parks and Recreation"), who takes viewers on a quest for the spiciest of spices. "'Superhot' is a wild ride into the Spicy World of Pepper People — the self-proclaimed chili heads who have taken the chili pill and want to find out how deep the rabbit hole goes," Hulu describes.

"This 10-part series goes deep into a subculture fueled by spice: from the elite growers who strive to create new superhots to the chili eaters who chase the endorphin rush of consuming them. Along the way, one legendary chili head sets out on a quest to answer the spiciest of questions." The platform asks: "is there a pepper that can challenge the world's hottest?"

"Pepperheads" will know that the Carolina Reaper held this spicy title for years, only to be recently dethroned by the tongue-burning chili Pepper X for 2023's Guinness World Records. According to the records, the Reaper pepper clocked in at 1.64 million Scoville heat units — SHU, a measurement of the pungency or "spiciness" of a pepper's heat — while this new, green, bell-shaped pepper boasted an impressively hot 2.69 million SHU.

Developed by American chemist Wilbur Scoville in 1912, this measurement — the Scoville scale — aims to classify the concentration of capsaicinoids, which are said to cause the heat that comes off peppers. While subjective,

Ben Schwartz narrates "Superhot: The Spicy World of Pepper People"

Scoville's scale is derived from the average capsaicinoid sensitivity people experience while eating specific hot chilis. The average jalapeno pepper, for example, scores an average between 3,000 and 8,000 on the Scoville scale, meaning this new pepper is almost 900 times hotter than its more common cousin.

Both the Carolina Reaper and Pepper X were grown by Puckerbutt Pepper Company founder Ed Currie on his farm in South Carolina. According to an article published by CNN: "Ed cultivated Pepper X on his farm for over 10 years, cross-breeding it with some of his hottest peppers to increase its capsaicin content."

Whether it remains the highest mark on Scoville's scale — well, "Superhot" plans to find out.

From paprika to jalapeno poppers, to Currie's Pepper X, explore a world of explosive flavor when all 10 episodes of "Superhot: The Spicy World of Pepper People" make their streaming debut Monday, Jan. 22, on Hulu.

The long-awaited spin-off of the much-loved docuseries, "The Incredible Dr. Pol," this all-new series sees the doc try his hand at farm life. Viewers can follow along with Dr. Pol's latest adventure, as all fourteen episodes from the debut season of "The Incredible Pol Farm" are now available to stream on Disney+. The Pol family's three generations join the amateur farmer in his attempt to grow their animal-loving empire, as together they begin the process of transforming 350-acres of undeveloped land into a fully functional family farm. expert in the care of large farm animals and family pets, Dr. Pol has been in the veterinary business for nearly 50 years, and has worked with farmers all his life along with their pigs, cows and barn cats. Despite his lack of experience running a functional farm, Pol has ample friends to rely on for advice, his son, Charles, as his right-hand man, and a familial history of hobby farming. Excited to begin his renovation and fill his stables with animals in need, Pol promises that "Michigan is a good place for farmers," and that his rich soil will produce some entertaining TV.

Inside may be trash, treasure, or the totally unexpected, but the buyers must bid on lockers based on their first impression of the space, as they are only given five minutes to inspect the contents inside, and may not enter unless the locker is purchased. After the auctions are completed, the successful bidders sort through the lockers, allowing cameras to document the process of taking inventory of their new belongings and estimating the value of the items they find. Each episode, a running total is displayed onscreen, showing both the item's actual cost, and the bidder's estimate. Finally, the episode ends with a summary of each buyer's net profit or loss. Season 12 and 13 see some return bidders like Brandi, Jarrod, Mary, Kenny, Ivy, Darrell, Dave and

Hollywood Q&A

By Adam Thomlison

TV Media

Q:When is "Stranger Things" coming back? I feel like we've been waiting forever.

A: I don't want to dismiss your feelings of longing, but by "Stranger Things" standards, we actually haven't been waiting that long. The fourth season debuted in July 2022 — just over a year and a half ago.

Whereas the break between the third and fourth seasons, for example, lasted nearly three years. And the gap between the second and third was nearly two.

Sadly, it seems that history will repeat itself. The fifth reportedly just started shooting this month, and it's not expected to debut until sometime in 2025. Assuming another summer release date, the wait between the fourth and fifth seasons will be three years again.

The delay has a lot to do with the scale of the upcoming season, which will also be the show's last one. It promises to be a lush, effects-heavy spectacle, and those take time to produce.

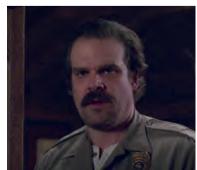

"It's major, major cinematic storytelling that happens to be called a TV series," executive producer and director Shawn Levy told Total Film magazine. "'Stranger Things' 5 is as big as any of the biggest movies that we see."

But the delay is also due to the strikes that rocked the whole screen industry. Deadline.com reports that they were ready to go into production last spring when the writers' and actors' strikes hit.

But the good news is, everyone's hurrying. David Harbour ("Hellboy," 2019), who plays Hopper on the show, told People magazine in November that he got a call about getting to work on Season 5 "literally ... I think it was 10 minutes" after the end of the SAG-AFTRA strike was announced.

Q: I still can't believe they're ending "Blue Bloods." What is Tom Selleck going to do next?

A: For those who haven't heard, the long-running CBS cop show, "Blue Bloods," will end after its upcoming 14th season.

David Harbour in "Stranger Things"

This is certainly sad news for fans of the smash-hit series that's part police procedural and part family drama. But for fans of star Tom Selleck ("Magnum P.I.") specifically, it opens up a tantalizing prospect: the continuation of the Jesse Stone movies.

For a while, Selleck moonlighted on both, playing "Blue Bloods" patriarch Frank Reagan part of the year and then putting on some more casual clothes to play small-town police Chief Jesse Stone in the off-season. Those made-for-TV movies were first produced by CBS, but switched to Hallmark for the more recent one — 2015's "Jesse Stone: Lost in Paradise."

At the time that one was shooting, Variety magazine reported that there was another script ready to shoot as well. That movie was never made — at least not yet.

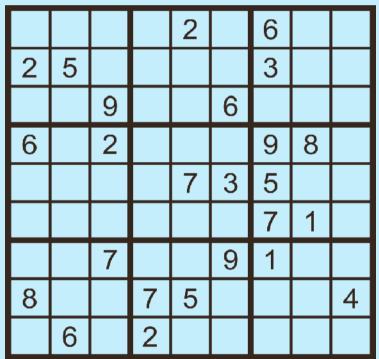

But with Selleck suddenly finding himself with a lot more time on his hands, the idea might become more attractive to him.

And having a script already prepped, along with more flexibility in Selleck's schedule, might make it attractive to Hallmark as well.

This is just speculation at this point, but it's worth getting excited about.
